JAPAN YIELDS HOPEH STRIP TO AID DRIVE IN SHANTUNG

Reported to Be Withdrawing Troops Between Two Railways to Throw Every Available Man Into Central Front Battle.

YIHSIEN GARRISON BREAKS THROUGH

5000 Invaders, Under Siege Two Weeks, Join Lini Columns — Chinese Retake Menghsien and Tsuiyuan in Honan.

By the Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, April 22.—Japan is retreating, temporarily at least, much of the Hopeh Province area it was early in the war to throw more troops into the battle on the Central China front.

The greatest concentration of Chinese forces since fighting started on July 7, 1937, and continuing guerrilla raids against Japanese outposts have created for the Japanese a serious situation.

The fighting is centered in Southwestern Shantung, and along the Peiping-Hankow and Peiping-Suiyuan railroads.

Reported Withdrawing Garrisons. Forced to muster every available man since the sharp defeat at Taihochwang, the Japanese high command was reported today to be withdrawing garrisons from Hopeh, between the two railroads.

Chinese Reds already have set up a Soviet State in the area with an army of several hundred thousand men, and it now seems likely all of Central Hopeh soon may be under their domination. Japanese still retain control of Peiping and Suiyuan, major cities they won shortly after the conflict started with a clash of troops on midnight maneuvers outside Peiping nine months ago.

The Chinese, with more than 50,000 troops said to have reinforced the central front army in the past three weeks, were establishing a new defense line today, crescent shaped to the west, south and east of Lini.

Japanese captured Lini after bitter fighting Wednesday.

Taihochwang Garrison Gets Out. The garrison of 5000, under siege for two weeks in the walled town of Lihuen, 24 miles northwest of Taihochwang, today broke through Chinese lines, the Chinese high command admitted, and joined column advancing from Lini.

The united Japanese force then pointed an offensive southward toward Taihochwang, hoping to take that town.

Resuming activity along the Yellow River, Chinese said guerrillas ambushed Japanese column near Yunglo in Shansi Province, killing 200 in one attack and 100 more in a raid after dark.

Japanese reinforcements burned village redoubts in an effort to smoke out the guerrillas. Japanese planes daily are bombing guerrilla hideouts in the hills along the Peiping-Suiyuan and Peiping-Hankow railroads, especially in the Yangtze area.

Menghsien, Tsuiyuan Retaken. Nearly 200 miles west of Szechow, the Chinese reported recapture of Menghsien and Tsuiyuan, important cities of Northern Honan Province, across the Yellow River from the Lunghai Railway. Garrisons in the cities had been weakened by withdrawals of troops. With their capture, Chinese believed they had eliminated a direct threat against Loyang, a strategic city on the Lunghai Railway. Tsuiyuan is 25 miles north of Loyang and Menghsien about the same distance to the northeast.

Boothblack Bowls Out English Cricket Champion

Bob Bradman Swings and Misses at Practice; Boy's Picture in Papers.

By the Associated Press. LONDON, April 22.—A boothblack bowled out the British Empire's greatest cricketer yesterday.

Bob Bradman, captain of the Australian team here for the "world series" with an English team, was practicing at Lord's cricket ground.

Paul Brooks, 16 years old, the boothblack bowled to Bradman. Bradman swung and missed and the ball knocked out the middle stump of the wicket, which is equal to three strikes and out in baseball.

Today the boy had his pictures in the papers and interviews and stories on "how I bowled Bradman out."

Officers Cling to Strand Serve as Abrasive; Prisoners Now Wear Cotton Socks.

By the Associated Press.

DENVER, April 22.—A one-inch bar neatly sawed in two was displayed last night as the reason why the American prisoners now wear cotton socks.

A. V. ANDERSON, former Leavenworth penitentiary warden, said Ralph Evans, a life term, sawed through the bar with yarn from a woolen sock in seven hours. "I didn't believe it when Evans told me," Anderson, now district supervisor for the Federal Alcohol Tax Unit, said. "He duplicated the task, though, under my supervision. Since then Federal prisoners are issued cotton socks."

Anderson said the prisoner wrapped a piece of the wool yarn around the iron bar, then, taking one end in each hand, sawed steadily. The first iron particles worn away clung to the wool and served as an abrasive in cutting through the remainder of the bar.

LADD, said Lavendar readily admitted he conceived the extortion plot after reading of Peter Levine's disappearance.

LADD, said Lavendar, a musician and laborer at various times, was homeless and penniless.

LADD said Lavendar had been dishonorably discharged from the Marine Corps and had served seven months of his eight-year sentence at Berkeley for manslaughter.

Despite Lavendar's protest that he intended to "take only the $100 and leave Chicago," Ladd said, a note in his pocket gave directions for turning over the remaining $20,000.

Lavendar pleaded guilty before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker to a charge of sending an extortion letter through the mails. He was held for the grand jury under $10,000 bond.

Youth Pleads Guilty of Attempt to Extort Ransom From Levine.

By the Associated Press.

TRENTON, N. J., April 22.—Stanley Thomas Jasosky, 19 years old, of Newark, admitted in Federal Court today he had attempted to extort ransom from the father of 12-year-old Peter D. Levine, a New Rochelle, N. Y., schoolboy who disappeared Feb. 24.

Rumors in financial circles that the Cabinet was split over monetary reform caused the franc to drop in yesterday's trading from 31.65 to 32.04 in terms of the dollar.

Reports of new strikes by miners and Paris shop clerks added to the uneasiness.

Buddhist Lamas Tried for Treason, Says Russian Paper.

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, April 22.—Bezozhnik, official atheist publication, disclosed yesterday an unspecified number of Buddhist lamas were tried in Outer Mongolia in January, 1937, for a treason plot alleged to have been inspired by Japan. The outcome was not given.

The purge centered in Ugodzhar Monastery, on the southeastern border of Mongolia, where a quantity of arms, ammunition and banners were found hidden. At the trial in Urga, capital of Soviet-ruled Outer Mongolia, the conspirators, headed by Lama Khutukhta, confessed plotting an armed rebellion against the Outer Mongolian Government.

Assistant United States Attorney Thorn Lord said each of the three counts in the indictment carried a maximum penitentiary term of 20 years. He said Jasosky admitted writing three other notes demanding ransom of Levine, who has offered a $25,000 reward for return of his son alive or $5000 reward for recovery of his body. Lord said Government investigators "were convinced Jasosky had nothing to do with the boy's disappearance."

TOKIO, April 22.—The Panay incident—the bombing of the United States river gunboat Panay and three Standard Oil vessels during the siege of Nanking—was officially closed today when Japan paid $2,214,007 as full indemnity. The check was handed to Eugene H. Doocan, Counselor of the American Embassy, at the Foreign Office.

The aerial attack occurred last Dec. 12, up the Yangtze River from the former Chinese capital.

Three Americans were fatally wounded. The Panay and two Standard Oil vessels were sunk and the fourth American craft was set afire and beached.

The Foreign Office itemization of the payment showed the Standard Vacuum Oil Co. received more than $29,000 and the other $100,000.

Agent Impersonates Levine.

A Federal agent, masquerading as Levine, registered at the hotel and was instructed in a telephone message to make a contact at Harrison and Halsted streets, on the near West Side.

The "father" was instructed to carry the $100 in a brown paper bag and turn it over to the "contact" man, Ladd said. If no "police plant" developed, Ladd said, the $29,000 was to be paid later and the instructions promised that Peter Levine would be returned to his home.

Although the agent masquerading as Levine walked for about a mile on Halsted street, no contact was established, but when he returned to the hotel a new message directed him to appear at Clark and Lake streets, on the north edge of the Loop.

There, Ladd said, the agent was accosted by Lavendar and followed his bidding to La Salle street. There the agent and several other officers made the arrest.

LAMONT RETURNS TO TELL SEC OF WHITNEY LOAN

Banker in Europe Three Months — Commission Clash Over Whether to Call J. P. Morgan.

BROKER'S CREDITORS CONTINUE PARADE

He Canvassed Wall Street Seeking Quick Cash, Offered Exchange Seats as Collateral.

By RICHARD L. STOKES, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 22.—Thomas W. Lamont, a senior Morgan partner, who returned yesterday from Europe after an absence of three months, will be summoned to testify before the Securities and Exchange Commission in Washington, probably on next Tuesday, it is announced. He will be questioned concerning George Whitney's testimony that Lamont, on Nov. 23, 1937, lent him $1,082,000 with the knowledge that this amount was to be used for rescuing Richard Whitney from his embasement of cash and securities owned by the Gratuity Fund of the New York Stock Exchange. Lamont declined today to make any comment on the Whitney case.

The plan now is Lamont will be confronted with two other Morgan partners whose names have figured prominently in the investigation. They are Arthur M. Anderson of Mt. Kisco and Charles D. Dickey of Philadelphia.

Question of Calling Morgan.

According to reports current here, the question of calling J. P. Morgan as a witness in the Whitney inquiry has stirred up a sharp clash of opinion among the five commissioners of the SEC in Washington. Chairman William C. Douglas is said to be vigorously in favor of compelling Morgan to testify, while his four colleagues are declared to oppose it on the ground that such an act might be interpreted as a "smear" or "publicity stunt." The chairman's purported view is that the commission would create an unfavorable impression by questioning dozens of minor brokers, and permitting the greatest figure in the case to escape without interrogation.

The millionaire parade of Richard Whitney's creditors continued this morning at the commission's local offices, 120 Broadway. The witnesses, in many cases New York's top in finance, society and church, had been without exception sumptuous, well-tailored, the last word in the arts of barber and manicure, and either tanned by the sun of Florida or ruddy with good living. They have passed through the SEC hopper at a rate of four or five per hour. This phase of the inquiry will end today, and the hearing will adjourn till Tuesday in Washington.

Twice Refused Loans.

Today's first witness, Nelson Irving Asiel, senior partner of Asiel & Co., said he is a governing member of the Stock Exchange and a member of its Arbitration and Securities Committees. Asiel was one of the fortunate individuals who refused to lend money to Richard Whitney during the last days before his bankruptcy, although twice asked to do so, he stated that the failure of Richard Whitney & Co. was "one of the biggest shocks I ever had."

After the middle of last February, the witness stated, Whitney asked Asiel & Co. to lend him $20,000 for two weeks to replace a bank loan and offered as security 39,000 shares of Distilled Liquors Corporation stock. Since his firm was a competitor of Richard Whitney & Co. in the bond business, Asiel admitted he was mildly surprised by this request. After consulting his partners, Asiel told Whitney that it was the policy of his company never to lend money to anybody. The broker replied: "That's all right."

On March 2, six days before Whitney's failure, he applied to Asiel, as an individual, for a loan of $50,000 to $100,000, and offered as collateral three seats on the Stock Exchange controlled by Richard Whitney & Co. The witness said Whitney did not inform him that he had already pledged the seats for other loans. Asiel asked the broker to telephone him in half an hour. When Whitney did so, Asiel told him he couldn't see his way clear to make the loan, as he didn't have the time to get back to him.

Surprised at Asiel.

Henry W. Bull, who recently became a partner of Winthrop Mitchell & Co., said that in February he was senior partner of Harriman & Keech. On Feb. 17 last, Bull related, Whitney applied to Harriman & Keech for a loan of $20,000 for three weeks, in order "to move a loan" at the Midland Marine Bank and Trust Co. He offered 39,000 shares of Distilled Liquors Corporation stock as security. The witness said he was extremely surprised at this request, because he had never had any business relations with Whitney, though they had been social intimates for many years. Bull refused the application because "I didn't like the collaterals." Distilled Liquors, he explained, was a curb stock and very inactive."

Then Whitney offered him three stock exchange seats without revealing that they were already pledged. Bull said there were ready through his mind a question as to why Whitney had not asked for this loan of his brother George, a senior Morgan partner, and that he replied: "This is not the sort of loan we care to make." But Whitney's failure, said the witness, came to him as a terrible shock."

No Record of Borrowings.

Two employees of the stock exchange were placed on the stand to identify various documents and minutes in the Whitney case. They were Walter O. Loomis, assistant secretary of the exchange, and Edward C. Gray, secretary of its Business Conduct Committee. Gray's testimony brought out the fact that Randolph Mason, personal attorney of Richard Whitney, was also formerly a partner of Carter, Ledyard & Milburn, counsel to the stock exchange; and that the exchange had no records whatsoever of Whitney's borrowings.

More Gentlemenly to Phone. Sidney J. Weinberg, a partner of Goldman Sachs & Co., and a member of the Stock Exchange, testified that on Feb. 28 last, Whitney applied to him personally for a loan of $50,000 for six days. Weinberg considered it a compliment that in such a case, a broker should be supposed to have $50,000 but decided not to make the loan. He did not refuse Whitney to his face but adopted what he called the "more gentlemanly course of telephoning him half an hour later. His message was "the answer is no."

The hearing was then adjourned until 10 a. m. Tuesday at the SEC Building in Washington.

genie institute in the West Park sector was blasted, killing a number of the insurgents as they occupied positions behind the milldam.

Insurgent reports explained the local commander on the Madrid front decided the moment was not quite ready for a mass effort to enter the streets of the sector bordering the park so he ordered his troops to fortify occupied trenches.

Military observers declared it was possible the insurgent units themselves had been so weakened by the drive into Catalonia they found it impossible to follow up their advantage when the Government mines were exploded in their path.

ZARAGOZA, Spain, April 22.—In-

Mijia had gone to the Mediterranean front to study defense problems when the insurgents separated Catalonia from the rest of Government territory.

The insurgents say the General moved toward Barcelona, passing through the town of Uldecona at the same time Gen. Francisco Franco's Navarrese troops swept in. He had to use a plane to get back across the insurgent salient to Madrid.

(Mijia and his staff returned to Madrid today following a visit to Valencia and Castellon de la Plana, where he conferred with subordinates on how to check the insurgent drive south along the coast, says Madrid dispatch. He stopped frequently to talk with soldiers, urging them to fight to the limit. Frequently he referred to Madrid's resistance as an example.)

TWO TEAMSTERS' UNION HEADS INDICTED IN LOS ANGELES

Nine Other Men Also Named by Grand Jury on Charges of Assault.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, April 22.—Two leaders of the Teamsters' Union in Los Angeles and nine other men were indicted yesterday by the county grand jury in what District Attorney Burton Pitts called a fight against labor terrorism.

The indictments charged felony conspiracy to commit 23 overt acts, five counts of assault and one count of extortion. Teamsters' leaders indicted are Harry Dali, international organizer for the union, and Dexter L. Lewis, president of the Los Angeles local.

The indictments resulted from a grand jury investigation of charges that union men have beaten and threatened both nonunion men and members of their own union who "got out of line." Specifically, the defendants were accused of conspiring to beat four teamsters.

The indictment was based on testimony of R. W. Lacey, truck line operator, who said threats were made to put him out of business if he did not reinstate a discharged worker or else pay $52.

LIQUOR LICENSE OF REX BAR REVOKED FOR SECOND TIME

Action on Complaint by Police of Brawl at George Blockburger Jr.'s Place.

The full liquor license of George Blockburger Jr., proprietor of the Rex Bar, 111½ North Sixth street, was revoked for a second time today by Excise Commissioner Lawry McDowell.

This time the basis was a police complaint of a brawl in the establishment April 7. Previously the commissioner had revoked the license on a complaint of Sunday operation but Blockburger obtained a temporary restraining order in Circuit Court against enforcement of this edict, a hearing has been set for tomorrow on a complaint that the Rex Bar lacks proper visibility from the street.

She was seized in a hotel room yesterday after police had arrested George Maloney, 43 years old, and John Maloney, 43. All are being held on confidence game charges. A third man is sought. Detective John Giffen said the three met Robert Denton, 59, and, after striking up an acquaintance, took her to a pocket billiards room where they won $100 from him in bets. The next day, the detective said, Denton returned with $900 he had withdrawn from a bank and bet the full sum. While the game was in progress one of the men who acted as stakeholder disappeared.

When policemen went to Murphy's hotel room they found Mrs. Cherrington, who was once the companion of John Hamilton, a member of the Dillingham gang. She denied knowing anything about Denton's losses.

A temporary restraining order preventing Excise Commissioner Lawrence McDowell from enforcing his order of April 7 revoking the liquor license of Arthur Cain, 4137 Olive street, was issued today by Circuit Judge Eugene L. Padberg on Cain's application for an injunction.

The Excise Commissioner was ordered to show cause next Friday why the restraining order should be made permanent. He revoked the license after he found Cain's place open at 2:30 a. m. Sunday, March 27.

TREASURY TO PAY $50,000,000 EACH WEEK TO BANKS

Will Start Releasing Gold
Credit by Redeeming
Bills in Cash for at Least Eight Weeks.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The Treasury has decided to start feeding its $1,400,000,000 gold credit hoard out to the nation's banks at the rate of $50,000,000 a week. This is part of the administration's program to expand credit resources.

At least for the next eight weeks, a Treasury spokesman said yesterday, $50,000,000 worth of maturing short term Treasury bills will be paid off in cash weekly, while an additional $50,000,000 worth of maturing bills will be replaced by floating new securities in the same amount during each seven-day period.

The Treasury declined to explain the motives of the new program, but it was apparent that Secretary Morgenthau, who conferred with Federal Reserve officials, intends to feed the new credit out gradually. At a total of $1,352,134,000 worth of short term Treasury bills will mature between now and June 30, and the Treasury could disburse all its gold fund in that period by redeeming all of these securities.

Since Treasury bills are owned almost exclusively by banks, the redemption of bills means an equivalent addition of cash to the lending resources of the banks.

The Federal Reserve Board announced that, partly due to last week's reduction in reserve requirements, the banks now have a total of $2,490,000,000 of excess reserves—idle monies available for loans.

Officials indicated that this reservoir of credit, the largest in more than a year, is sufficient to meet present needs and does not necessitate any hurry in disbursing the gold fund.

The Treasury acquired a cash credit of $1,400,000,000 last week by desterilizing its gold hoard according with President Roosevelt's credit inflation program. The gold credit is really a deposit in the Federal Reserve banks and does not augment the lending power of the commercial banks until the Treasury spends it either by redeeming securities or disbursing it for governmental activities.

The Federal Reserve Board disclosed that it sold $1,08,000,000 worth of Federal bonds last week to prevent the price of the securities from going too high. The board attorney, supervisor of the Government bond market to prevent undue fluctuations leading to undesirable

The credit inflation program increased Government bond prices because it will increase the amount of idle money in the banks and consequently increase their incentive to purchase Government bonds for investment.

The third bombardment was the heaviest of the three, but still vigorous.

Four Killed at Cheese Factory.

In the lower-end of the town there was a small cheese factory to which the peasants of the neighborhood were accustomed to take milk. A bomb had set it afire and killed four men. A woman was screaming violently as soldiers tried to draw her away from the scene.

The four bodies lay on the grass, covered with soldiers' blankets. All had been peasants. A girl in a yellow dress got over a stone fence and came into the field, calling raucously: "Where's my mother? Where's my mother?"

Two men and a horse had been killed in a field by a bomb. The men were peasants who had been working that field. In the next field, six men were said to have been killed.

At the railway station there were other bodies; a bomb had fallen nearby, although it had in no way damaged the presumed "objective" of the bombing. There were ruined houses in the neighborhood, and frantic women.

A lieutenant commanding an anti-aircraft battery, a Basque, said three squadrons of Junkers had come over, the first consisting of five tri-motored planes, the second of three bi-motored, and the third of four bi-motored. They dropped all their loads, which were presumably bombs weighing 50 kilograms (110 pounds) each. There were therefore probably 48 bombs.

The second and third of these flights consisted of new type machines, called, according to the Lieutenant, Junkers 330, which have a stubby body and are smaller than the Toulous-Balcelona Electric Railway.

The bombing was the first to take place in three months at this point, near where Spain, France and Andorra meet. The little town in the Pyrenees had been expecting trouble some time, since the northern end of the so-called pincer of the Fascist army must come through there.

Puigcerda is a picturesque town running up and down the mountainside, with a rectangular lake at the top on a plateau which is exactly a kilometer (three-fifths of a mile) from the French frontier. The lake is a blue mirror against the snowy hills, and there are swans moving peacefully about on it.

Sirens Cause Little Alarm.

Just before noon sirens sounded but the people in the streets took little notice, having been so long unmolested.

Five minutes after the sirens the hum of airplanes was heard clearly, and workmen and women scattered.

The work of collecting the wounded and dead disclosed some very bad cases, which the anti-aircraft officer took in his car to the French frontier. Two died en route—a girl and a young boy. The French accepted them. They have more medical supplies over there than are on hand at Puigcerda, and the frontier is so near that the journey is like going from one end to the other of the same town.

Certainly some of the bombs that were dropped must have fallen on French territory whether the German plane fell there or not.

Three French doctors from Bourg-Madame, a village in France, came across the bridge and volunteered to help with the wounded in Puigcerda.

After the second bombardment was over, the third began again, and the third was the worst yet seen on the Py

"BUGS" MORAN, AND OTHERS, HELD IN BOGUS CHECK PLOT

It says, to Avi, threatened "Vicious Spirals of Deflation."

Six Arrested in Chicago in Alleged Scheme to Pass Travelers' Certificates.

AIRPLANE PILOT AMONG THOSE TAKEN

Prosecutor's Office Thinks Bogus Paper to Extent of $1,000,000 Ready for Distribution.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, April 22.—George "Bugs" Moran, prohibition era gangster chief, and five other persons were seized here today by police investigating a nationwide plot to pass counterfeit travelers' checks.

Three Chicago men accused of being leaders of a counterfeiting ring were arrested at Pittsburgh last night.

Police of the State's Attorney's office who have the arrests here express the opinion as much as $1,000,000 in counterfeit American Express Co. checks had been printed for distribution in principal cities of the nation.

Moran and others of whom henchmen were machine-gunned to death on St. Valentine's day a few years ago, was held at the Detective Bureau during the night. He and the others denied being involved in a counterfeiting ring.

Airplane Pilot Arrested.

Assistant State's Attorney Robert Wright announced those seized here included Frank J. Parker, airplane pilot known as the "flying bartender" during prohibition days. Walter Nolan, an employee of a coin vending machine company, Marie Ribble, Loren Gant, and a woman whose name was not divulged.

Those arrested at Pittsburgh were then released by Frank Quinn, 45 years old; D. J. Driscoll, 45; and Dan Keltner, 45, Detective Louis Poole of the Pittsburgh police said they had forged checks totaling $12,000 on the express company.

Lient. Thomas Kelly, chief investigator for the State's Attorney's office, said Parker had $2000 in check in his possession when he was seized at a La Salle street office.

The investigator said he lacked definite figures, but believed $50,000 in spurious checks had been forged for distribution in Chicago alone. He said the ring began operating about a month ago from headquarters in Chicago, distributing the checks in various cities.

Easterners Spoiled Plan.

Lient. Kelly said the "distribution gang, especially some in the East, spoiled the whole scheme by double crossing Parker and Moran." He declared the passers began to distribute the checks before the appointed time.

Complaints began coming in," he said. "The express company police went to work, detectives became trading them, and a lot of heat was put on us. Some of the other passers, hearing about it, turned back the counterfeits to headquarters, refusing to handle them. Others began passing them everywhere.

"Finally they caught these three men in Pittsburgh. A stool pigeon in New York City came up with some information. It all led to Chicago and Moran and Parker."

Kelly said at least 20 persons would be arrested or sought for questioning.

BRUGGIST BANKRUPT; ASSETS $454, LIABILITIES $19,449

Charles J. Wachtel, Proprietor of Store at 1000 South 18th, files Voluntary Plea.

Liabilities of $19,449 and assets of $454 were listed in a voluntary petition for bankruptcy filed in United States District Court yesterday by Charles J. Wachtel, proprietor of a drug store at 1000 South Eighteenth street.

Wachtel's petition sets out that on April 16 he made "some kind" of an assignment to three men, including an attorney, and that since that time they have operated the business as a self-appointed creditors' committee.

Sale of fixtures and stock in the store was restrained yesterday by a temporary order issued by Circuit Judge Eugene L. Padberg, acting on a petition filed by the St. Louis Wholesale Drug Co., alleging its claim of $1889 against the drug store was being jeopardized by an unauthorized sale.

5400 IN MUSIC TEST AT WASHINGTON U.

No Prizes, but Judges Give Rating to Bands, Choruses or Soloists Entered.

Music was providing as much excitement as a circus at Washington University today for 5400 students from 7 to 18 years of age who were taking part in the sixth annual music festival for schools within a 50-mile radius of St. Louis.

Band players with shining faces and swirling capes were milling about the field house and gymnasium, taking practice toots on their instruments. Others were eating ice cream cones and popcorn and chattering excitedly as they prepared to take their turns in various events.

Forty-three bands and orchestras and 64 choruses and glee clubs were participating along with 250 soloists of whom 40 were pianists and 40 were vocalists.

The festival was not in the nature of a contest, places were not awarded or prizes given, but each band or soloist was being rated by the judges as superior, excellent, good, fair or average.

In the first event, in which 11 junior high and grade school orchestras took part, the University City Junior High School Orchestra got the largest number of votes for a superior rating. In the next event, the University City and Webster Groves Junior High School bands were judged superior among five that took part in the class of junior high school and grade school bands. The directors of the orchestras and bands and two judges arrived at the ratings.

Clay Bowles, director of the Washington University choral groups, who promoted the festival, said to a Post-Dispatch reporter that the quality of the music was improved "500 per cent" over that in the festival five years ago, showing a greater interest in music in the schools.

During the afternoon 71 soloists were heard on the violin, viola, bassoon, oboe, flute, clarinet, string bass and violoncello. At 7 o'clock tonight the piano soloists will play at the Field House, and the vocal soloists will be heard half an hour later. The program will continue all day tomorrow.

Judges were pianists, Jose Echaniz, Cuban pianist who appeared as soloist with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra during the last season; strings, Max Steinle, first cellist for the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra; wood-winds, Lauren Torno, flautist for the orchestra; voice, Stephen Williams, director of the A Cappella Choir at Culver-Stockton College, Canton, Mo.; orchestra, Edward Murphy, English horn player in the Symphony Orchestra, and drums, Henry Riesler. Eugene Hahn, supervisor of music for the St. Louis public schools, was director of the judges.

DIIONNE SEEKS INQUIRY ON QUINTUPLETT FUND

Wants to Know Whether Fortune Is Being Dissipated—$2000 a Month for Nursery.

OTTAWA, April 22 (Canadian Press).—A request for judicial inquiry into the guardians' management of the Dionne quintuplets has been filed with the Ontario Attorney-General's office on behalf of Oliver Dionne, their father.

Henri St. Jacques, Ottawa barrister, said last night he had been retained by Oliver Dionne two weeks ago and that he sent his request to the Attorney-General's department several days ago. He added that no reply has been received and declared "I suppose the Government does not know what to do."

In his request to the department, St. Jacques urged that the investigation include inquiry into the supervision of Dr. A. R. Dafoe, the children's doctor, and his fellow guardians' management of the children's financial affairs.

St. Jacques said his purpose was to learn if the fortune was being dissipated. He was aware, he added, that the funds are subject to Government audit.

It has been estimated that $2000 is spent each month in keeping up the nursery where Annette, Yvonne, Cecile, Marie and Emilie live 100 yards from the modest Dionne farm home where they were born May 28, 1934. This includes the $200 a month salary of Dr. Dafoe, $100 a month to the parents, and salaries to teachers, nurses, housekeepers and guards, and nursery expenses.

The quintuplets also have a business manager and a secretary-manager of the guardianship, William Flannery.

The present board of guardians replaced one set up in July, 1934. Dionne approved the first board but never has indorsed the second one. Although he is a guardian, he has attended only one meeting of the board since last June.

He is said to feel that the need of the guardianship has passed, though he would not object to some form of Government supervision of their business affairs.

The Dionne family now consists of seven other living children, the last, a boy, born April 5. One of the brothers, Ernest, 12 years old, became a student yesterday at College Apostolique St. Alexander, near Ottawa, and two of the sisters have enrolled at the Ursuline convent at Quebec City. Their expenses are to be paid out of the guardianship.

H. E. DODGE SUIT TO DIVORCE SECOND WIFE DISCLOSED

Son of Late Auto Manufacturer, Gave Her $30,000 a Year, Petition Says.

DETROIT, April 22.—Attorneys for Horace E. Dodge, son of the late automobile manufacturer, disclosed today he had filed suit for divorce from Muriel Slemmer Dodge to whom he was married in London, England, in 1928. The complaint charges cruelty, alleging Mrs. Dodge made disparaging remarks about him in the presence of other persons. It sets forth he gave her an allowance of $30,000 a year.

The Dodges, who have two children, both born in London, became estranged in 1934. Four subsequent suits by Mrs. Dodge were settled out of court and the terms were never made public.

Dodge was divorced in 1927 from his first wife, the former Lois Knowlton, by whom he had two children, Delphine and Horace E. Dodge III. He had made a $10,000,000 settlement on her.

In 1934 Dodge termed "foolish" reports he planned a divorce to marry Mickey Devine, New York show girl who received publicity for cuffing Prime Carnera, heavyweight boxer, in a Paris night club.

About 40 of the strikers remained in the three-story plant overnight, sleeping on bed-springs and tables. Police reported there was no violence.

No attempt to operate the plant is being made, pending a conference between union representatives and the management set for Monday morning. The strike was called Wednesday afternoon when the union accused the management of fostering a company union during negotiations for a new contract, a charge which the management denied. The company is seeking to cut wages 10 per cent, and the union is resisting, but the wage controversy is not involved in the strike.

Thomas McBurnie Dies.
NEW YORK, April 22.—Thomas McBurnie, 60 years old, former president of the American Optometric Association, who was director of the first clinic in the world where needy patients received examinations and eyeglasses free of charge, died of a heart attack in his office yesterday.

JACKIE COOGAN SUIT TO BE HEARD MAY 2

Order Restraining Mother from Disposing of Property
Continued.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, April 22.—Court action on Jackie Coogan's suit for a $4,000,000 account by his mother and stepfather was postponed today until May 2.

Superior Court Judge Emmet Wilson ordered that the temporary re-ownership be continued, so that an inventory may be completed by May 1. He also continued a temporary order restraining Coogan's mother, and her second husband, Arthur L. Bernstein, from disposing of property until further notice.

The court gave Mrs. Bernstein permission to make changes in a deposition she gave this week.

Change in Law Proposed.

State legislation to protect children's salaries so that they may receive the money when they become of age was proposed today by Superior Judge Ben B. Lindsey, the former Denver Juvenile Court Judge. He decried the present situation in California that has made necessary such litigation as Coogan instituted to recover his movie earnings.

A statement of policy regarding future approval of minor's contracts was made yesterday by Judge Wilson in which he declared that there must be a clause in each contract providing that one-half of the earnings are to be paid into a trust fund by the studio.

For unscrupulous youngsters, more than half their income would be set aside for their maturity in this manner, Judge Wilson said.

"I am taking this action because the California law does not specifically make any provision for the care of the money of a minor, but only implies it," he declared. "I know that the studios will agree to this move. Should the parents refuse, I will withhold approval of a contract."

Beery Quotes Elder Coogan.

Wallace Beery, movie star who appeared with Coogan in two of his pictures, told reporters yesterday that the late Jack Coogan had told him on many occasions that his young actor son would receive all his earnings when he became 21.

"Not once, but many times—more than a dozen, I think—Jack told me that he had never used or intended to use a cent the boy earned," Beery said. "Every penny the boy was making was being put away and saved for him, Jack said on several occasions. He was careful at all times to impress everyone that Jackie's money would go to his wife and rightfully when the kid reaches man's status.

"I shall be glad to help Jackie in any way possible so that his father's wishes may be fulfilled."

Jackie's mother, now Mrs. Bernstein, declared in court deposition last Monday that Jackie had been told, in a discussion of finances with his father, that he had no property, and that everything he had earned belonged to his parents.

Charles Katz, attorney for Mr. and Mrs. Bernstein, denied yesterday that Coogan had saved his mother from being ejected from her home.

The story, said Katz, sounded good, "but it was to arouse sympathy for Jackie and ill feeling toward the Bernsteins."

"The story is untrue," said Katz. "Jackie Coogan's attorneys and I stipulated that the receiver should not take possession of the property occupied by the Bernsteins."

INQUEST VERDICT SUICIDE IN DEATH OF MRS. HEBNER

Note Left by Woman Says Husband She Is Accused of Killing Gave Her Poison She Used.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

POCAHONTAS, Ark., April 22.—The closing entry in the mysterious Will Hebner murder case was written here yesterday when a Coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide by poison in the death of Hebner's widow, Mrs. Cora T. Hebner, whose body was found in her cell in the Randolph County jail shortly after noon.

Held for trial for the murder of Hebner, whose bones were found March 11 on her farm near Pocahontas, the 55-year-old former St. Louis woman ended her life after writing a note in which she repeated her assertion that as a matter of fact Hebner was not dead at all, but simply afraid or unwilling to show himself.

Hebner failed to get a confession from her, Randolph County authorities had told her that she was to be taken to Little Rock to undergo a lie detector or "truth serum" test, and it was apparently in fear of this threat, made in jest, that she had decided to end her life.

Says Hebner Gave Her Poison.

"I can see very plainly who follows intend to force me into saying what you want me to say even if it isn't the truth," she wrote in a note found pinned in a pocket of her apron. "And now you tell me tomorrow you are taking me to Little Rock to be beaten, tortured, etc., even to injecting stuff into me to paralyze my brain (what little I have). It isn't fair, human or civilized."

Declaring Hebner had been in Pocahontas twice since she has been held in jail, she wrote that she gave her the poison in "a dreadful, dark stormy night." The note concluded with directions that she be cremated. "I don't want any minister, I hope the redbirds sing taps for me."

Randolph County authorities said that in addition to a farm near Pocahontas, which is still in her name, she owned a cottage in St. Louis and had $1032 in a bank in Miami, Fla., where she was arrested a few days after Hebner's bones were found.

The gray-haired prisoner had told a Post-Dispatch reporter that she had been married five times, had conceded that her marital affairs were tangled and that she had married at least one of her husbands without getting a divorce from his predecessor.

Query on Lie Detector.

Among her possessions, laid out neatly on the other bunk in her cell, were a Bible and newspaper clipping from a question-and-answer column in which she had marked with pencil the question: "Can a criminal be forced to take the lie detector test?" The answer given was "No."

Maintaining her innocence of murder through weeks of questioning, she had told authorities here that Hebner had boasted he was the murderer of William C. Hite, stabbed and beaten to death in his secondhand store at 180 Franklin avenue, St. Louis, on Nov. 10, 1935. At that time, she said, she and

22 KILLED, 83 HURT IN BUILDING COLLAPSE

Cafe Wall at Phenix City, Ala., Falls After Roof of Adjoining Building Crashes.

By the Associated Press.

PHENIX CITY, Ala., April 22.—Rescue workers sought additional victims today in the wreckage of a two-story cafe building that collapsed yesterday, killing 22 Negroes and injured 83 other persons.

Part of a roof of a building next to the cafe collapsed Wednesday, slightly injuring 10 Negroes. The rest of the roof fell yesterday, crashing the east wall of the cafe building and wrecking the Negro section of the eating place.

The cafe was a licensed liquor store.

Alabama National Guardsmen came to Phenix City last night to relieve 50 United States soldiers from Fort Benning, Ga., who rushed here after the tragedy.

Collapse of the part of the roof Wednesday was attributed by R. L. Ray, city building inspector, to accumulation of rain-water on the roof.

Phenix City has a population of 13,882. It is across the Chattahoochee River from Columbus, Ga.

Hebner were living at 5312 North Broadway. Hebner, she declared, laughed at news accounts of the conviction of Jasper Gibilterra, former convict, now serving a life sentence for the crime. Counsel for Gibilterra, who confessed the murder and implicated another man, but later repudiated the statement, is making an investigation in the hope of proving his client innocent.

LAW SUIT SOLICITOR GETS 30 DAYS IN JAIL

Lawrence J. Jones, St. Louis, Sentenced in Absence at Camdenton, Mo.; Fined $200.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CAMDENTON, Mo., April 22.—A layman, charged by the State Bar Committee with contempt of court in soliciting personal injury damage suits as an attorney, was sentenced to 30 days in Camden County Jail and fined $200 by Circuit Judge Cornelius H. Skinner today after a hearing at which Jones did not appear.

Judge Skinner issued an attachment for the arrest of Lawrence Jones. When the contempt proceeding was filed last month, a member of the Grievance Committee, which had conducted the preliminary investigation and turned over its information to the State Bar Committee, said Jones resided at 6129 Idaho avenue.

In filing the contempt proceeding, the Bar Committee broadened its efforts to suppress solicitation of law suits, taking action for the first time against a layman. Previously, in respect to solicitation, it had confined itself to seeking discipline of attorneys accused of that practice, which is contrary to legal ethics. Its petition against Lawrence Jones alleged that his activities interfered with administration of justice.

Funeral services will be held Monday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, Alton.

COURT DIRECTIONS ACQUITTAL OF MAN AT ARSON TRIAL

Hollon Hines, 1116 Talmadge avenue, a mechanic, was acquitted on charges of arson and burning to injure an insurer, by a directed verdict in Madison County Circuit Court at Edwardsville, Ill., yesterday.

Hines had been indicted in connection with a fire that destroyed a vacant dwelling on a farm he owns near Prairietown, Ill., the night of Jan. 18. The place was insured at $2400 and damage was fixed at $1200 by the insurance company.

Following State testimony which failed to show that Hines had been connected in any way with the fire, Judge D. H. Mudge granted a directed verdict of acquittal requested by defense counsel. Hines was in court with two acquaintances, ready to testify that on the night of the fire he had taken a friend from St. Louis to East St. Louis.

SUPREME COURT VOIDS HOWARD ESTATE ORDER

Grants Inventor-Claimant Writ to Keep Bonds From Being Dispersed.

The Missouri Supreme Court today set aside an order of Probate Judge A. Evan Hughes of St. Louis County which released $1,065,000 in bonds to Clarence H. Howard Jr. from the estate of his mother, of which he is sole beneficiary.

In granting an alternative writ of mandamus sought by A. Frank Howe, inventor, who has a $4,000,000 claim against the estate, the Supreme Court gave Judge Hughes 30 days within which to reply to Howe's mandamus suit. Pending determination of the matter by the Supreme Court, the estate is to be preserved intact, as it existed prior to the order of partial distribution which Judge Hughes entered Wednesday.

Although the estate was inventoried at $5,753,436, the value placed on it in Howard's application for release of the bonds was $4,358,712. If Judge Hughes' order of partial distribution is permitted to stand, Howe pointed out in his petition to the Supreme Court, his $4,000,000 claim, if established, could not be satisfied in full.

Return of the bonds is requested so that they may be kept under the jurisdiction of the Probate Court pending final determination of Howe's claim. Judge Hughes has sustained Howard's motion to strike out the claim, but the inventor has appealed to the Circuit Court.

The petition for mandamus, filed by Howe's attorney, Joseph T. Davis, relates that the appeal was filed Wednesday, several hours after Judge Hughes signed the order of partial distribution which released the bonds to Howard. Filing of the appeal stopped any further distribution of the estate.

Davis sets out in the petition that Judge Hughes told him he had signed the order of distribution without knowing its contents, but would hold any future orders presented to him until Howe could be heard.

"In other words," the petition continues, "after allowing all the horses to be taken out of the barn, the barn door would be closed until the relator (Howe) might be heard."

Howe's claim is based on a judgment he obtained in the United States District Court at Springfield, Ill., in 1930, ordering an accounting of what is due to him for the use of his patents by the Commonwealth Steel Co., of which Clarence H. Howard Sr. was president. The amount has not yet been determined, but Howe estimates Commonwealth Steel stockholders may owe him as much as $4,500,000, and on that basis Mrs. Howard's share would be $4,000,000. The Commonwealth company was sold in 1928 to the General Steel Castings Co.

Howard, as executor of his mother's estate, filed an application in Probate Court yesterday for authority to sell stocks currently worth about $395,000. He told reporters his purpose was to obtain money with which to pay inheritance taxes.

35 POLICEMEN GUARD 550 WPA WORKMEN ON E. ST. LOUIS JOBS

Meanwhile Relief Office Takes Application of A. F. of L. Men for Work On Projects.

Thirty-five policemen guarded 550 W.P.A. workmen on four East St. Louis street paving and drainage jobs today as the Township Relief Administration continued taking applications of A. F. of L. laborers who had interrupted work on the W.P.A. projects Wednesday with demands that they be declared eligible for W.P.A. employment.

It had been arranged for the 500 A. F. of L. men, members of Local 100, Hodcarriers, Building & Common Laborers' Union, to apply in groups of 50 each day for admittance to the relief rolls, which is necessary before they are eligible for W.P.A. jobs. Yesterday only about 35 appeared at the relief office at Eighth street and Broadway, and 28 were certified as eligible for the W.P.A. A few left before being interviewed, and some others were declared ineligible. One, for instance, was rejected because he refused to cash a $2000 endowment insurance policy, and another because he was employed on a War Department levee project south of East St. Louis, although he contended he had had only one day's work in seven weeks on the project.

Fred G. Austin, W.P.A. Administrator in East St. Louis, Charles Miner, State Administrator, and union officials will confer in East St. Louis Saturday on the problem.

REAR WALL OF MATTRESS WAREHOUSE COLLAPSES

No One Injured in Accident at Plant at 5209 North Second Street.

The rear wall of a two-story brick warehouse used by the R. Burkart Manufacturing Co. at 5209 North Second street, collapsed at 12:15 p.m. today.

The debris fell into an alley, knocking down an electric wire pole, and severing a wire carrying 18,000 volts. No one was injured. The Burkart company manufactures mattresses. The warehouse is owned by the St. Louis Car Co. The cause of the collapse was not determined.

RFC POWER LOANS
ROT, L. H. EGAN SAYS

Union Electric Head Thinks Aid Won't Amount to 'Hurrah in Hell.'

In a vigorous attack on the Federal Government's dual role as established competitor and potential benefactor of the electrical industry, Louis H. Egan, president of the Union Electric Co. of Missouri, told the Missouri Association of Public Utilities yesterday that the industry does not want loans from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Speaking scornfully of the proposal for Federal loans to utilities which has been discussed by the Administration at Washington, Egan said:

"Any utility which has behaved itself and kept sound credit can get all the money it needs from other sources. I predict that all the RFC loans to the electric light and power business won't amount to a hurrah in hell."

Egan who addressed the utilities executives at luncheon at Hotel Jefferson during their annual convention, characterized as "veriest rot" estimates that the electric industry could spend $3,000,000,000 immediately on replacements of equipment and new construction.

Surests Platinum Cables.

"On that basis," he said, "Union Electric, with about 2 per cent of the total investment in the industry and about the same percentage of the output, would have to spend $60,000,000 to put its property up to date. I don't know what we would do with that but put platinum on the cables."

"If these estimates were correct," he continued, "the industry would be 25 per cent underconstructed. As it is, we're not behind in our construction and can take care of any business that will pay its way."

He turned to a criticism of all phases of the Government's electric power program, particularly the large-scale water power development plans of the Tennessee Valley Authority, and the Grand Coulee, Bonneville and Fort Peck dams, asserting that the Government would not be able to dispose of the electricity produced in the Western hydroelectric plants.

TVA Percentages Cited.

He referred to a recent Post-Dispatch investigation which disclosed that only 11 per cent of the power produced by the TVA was sold to domestic consumers and the remainder was sold to large industry.

If this condition exists in the well-populated South, he continued, "How will the Government dispose of its power in the Northwest?"

As an example of the "absurd" schemes for disposing of the western power, Egan cited a proposal by J. R. Ross, administrator of Bonneville Dam in Oregon, for the transmission of current 500 miles to Idaho for the manufacture of phosphates.

He said Ross' plan to send the power by converting alternating current into direct current for the long transmission over mountains, and changing it back to alternating current at its destination, was not an engineering possibility and, if it were, would not be economically sound, because Idaho was as rich in other power resources as any other region in the world.

Another proposal by the dam administrator for the creation of seven districts in Oregon to buy the power and sell it at retail to the public was upset by vote of the people within the proposed districts, Egan said.

Attacks Rural Electrification.

The program of rural electrification undertaken by the Federal Government is economically unsound, Egan declared, asserting that private companies would be willing to serve rural consumers if such service could be instituted without forcing other customers to help pay for it in increased rates.

"Rural power distribution is more than a matter of putting up poles and stringing wires," he said. "There are also power plants, substations, underground cables and very expensive maintenance services." These costs, he said, would put an unfair load on all customers of the power company.

"If we want to enter a program such as this let's do it with our eyes open," he said.

Egan summarized an extemporaneous discussion of business conditions with the declaration that "things are going to be much worse before they're better" and the advice to his audience to "trim our sails a little bit."

Pessimistic About Future.

The new program for Federal recovery expenditures, he said, "is a new pump-priming operation to be undertaken even though the last one was a flop." Increased public debt won't increase confidence, he added.

Lack of confidence is the primary cause for the present "depression," Egan went on, adding that he was "pessimistic about the experience we're going to have for a few years."

No government treasury can stand what is going on. Economists say that a nation can't spend more than 25 per cent of its income to administer itself, but our total bill for cost of government is $18,000,000,000 a year, out of a national income of $56,000,000,000.

Egan read newspaper reports of recent speeches by James Roosevelt, son and successor to the President, and Harold G. Moulton, head of the Brookings Institution, in which they expressed opposite views of the effectiveness of Federal spending.

"It's impossible for me to believe that an institution like Brookings

COUNTY G. O. P. CLUB PICKS PRIMARY SLATE

Indorses List of Candidates to Be Submitted to Central Committee.

A slate of Republican candidates for nomination to St. Louis County offices in the August primary was unanimously indorsed by the Board of Governors of the St. Louis County Republican Club at a meeting at Cleveland last night. It was the first time in the eight-year history of the club that such indorsements have been made.

Roscoe Tallman of University City, club president, said preparation of the slate had been decided on to eliminate "undiscriminate running for office and to see that the right type of men are on the ticket in the November election."

He said the slate would be submitted to the County Republican Central Committee for approval. The Central Committee in past primary campaigns has seldom openly indorsed candidates, although certain ones usually have received strong organization support.

Until 1932 the county was so overwhelmingly Republican that Democratic candidates usually filed only a matter of form. In that year, however, the Roosevelt landslide placed several Democrats in county offices and subsequent elections have filled all but a few offices with Democrats.

F. William Autenreith, chairman of the Central Committee, said to a Post-Dispatch reporter today that the committee probably would break precedent and "go along" with the club in indorsing candidates if committee members decide that those selected by the club are capable candidates.

"We are working to the end of putting an outstanding ticket in the field," Autenreith said. "This is a Republican county and the only reason we have lost some offices is that we haven't had candidates as outstanding as they might have been."

The board of governors of the club consists of six delegates from each of the seven township clubs. Tallman said efforts in past campaigns to obtain club indorsements for certain candidates had been abandoned because of lack of unanimity on the question.

The club slate is as follows:

For County: David L. Miller, attorney and former Mayor of University City; State Legislature, Second District, Howard Elliott, incumbent; State Legislature, Third District, Dan Kerckhoff, young attorney defeated for that office in 1936; Presiding Judge, County Court, Charles A. Shaw, Mayor of Clayton; Associate Judge, County Court, Second District, Henry Rott of Affton, retired farmer and a director of the First National Bank of Clayton; Prosecuting Attorney, Stanley Wallach, who was defeated for the office two years ago; Collector, Willis W. Benson, incumbent; Circuit Clerk, Raymond O. Douglas, a clerk in that office; Recorder of Deeds, Gerald Donworth, incumbent.

The club did not indorse candidates for Probate Judge, State Representative, First District; Associate Judge of County Court, First District; County Clerk and Comptroller. Tallman said no selection probably would be made later.

Oscar H. Schubmeyer, who is completing his third four-year term as Circuit Clerk, is not running for re-election. The present County Clerk, for which office no candidate was indorsed by the club, is Walter Miller, serving his third four-year term and candidate for a fourth.

Tallman said that, although David Miller and Shaw have not announced as candidates, the indorsements were voted as a means of urging them to run. All of the other indorsees have announced. Shaw said today he had not yet decided whether he would run. Miller could not be reached.

SUNSET HILLS GOLF COURSE AND POOL TO OPEN APRIL 30

Former Country Club to Be Operated by Sunset Golf Club, Inc., With Option to Buy.

The Sunset Golf Club, Inc., will open the golf course and swimming pool of the former Sunset Hill Country Club at Geysen road and Lindbergh boulevard, April 30, it was decided at a meeting of members of the new club at the Missouri Athletic Association yesterday.

Under an agreement with Anheuser-Busch, Inc., owner of the property, the club will operate until Nov. 30 with a nominal rental and an option to buy for $225,000. William T. Mellow, president of the new corporation, told a reporter the organization expects to exercise the option before Nov. 30.

The new corporation has 150 members, slightly more than half of whom are members of the Missouri Athletic Association, and the rest former members of the Sunset Hill club, which disbanded last July. Membership will be limited to 200.

MAYOR PRAISES CANCER WORK

Women's Field Army Has Made Auspicious Beginning, He Says.

The work of the Women's Field Army of the American Society for the Control of Cancer was praised by Mayor Dickmann in a proclamation yesterday asking St. Louisans to co-operate in cancer control activities this month.

"They have made an auspicious beginning in the past year," he said, "and it is a matter of great importance that they continue to succeed. With each new enlistment in the Women's Field Artillery, we have reason to believe that cancer has been driven back another step."

DETROIT CIO UNION

MOVES TO END STRIKE

Confers With Owners of Seven Closed Aluminum Plants—Another Walkout Settled.

By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, April 22.—Representatives of the Bohn Aluminum and Brass Co. and of the CIO United Automobile Workers whose strike closed seven Bohn plants here sought a basis for negotiation today in conferences held closed doors.

Another strike of United Automobile Workers affecting 75 employees of the Fox Machine Co. at Jackson, Mich., was settled today. Milton Ryman, representative of the union, said the company agreed to adhere to seniority rules.

The Bohn conferences, in company offices, started this morning and continued this afternoon.

Simon DenUyl, company secretary, said he had accepted the request of Richard T. Frankensteen, assistant international president of the U. A. W., that he meet with Frankensteen and a union committee.

The union leader said "we have high hopes that we will arrive at a settlement" and that "I feel that sitting around a conference table is a lot better than fighting on a picket line."

Union Men Repaired Displaced.

Frankenstein said the strike, which spread to seven plants yesterday, resulted from the company's replacing U. A. W. members with foremen of production jobs, but DenUyl said he attributed it to "the dues collecting campaign now being conducted by the union." He referred to cases in which the U. A. W. has picketed industrial plants to collect dues from members reporting for work.

Only approximately 1000 of the 3200 men normally employed by the aluminum company were working when the strike began.

The possibility that the firm might withdraw its Detroit operations was seen in the statement by P. A. Markey, vice-president, that it "has been investigating real estate values" in New York and Illinois.

No negotiations to settle strikes here at the American Brass Co., the Detroit Moulding Corporation and the Michigan Steel Casting Co. had been announced. The U. A. W. insisted there was a strike also at the Hulst Top & Body Co., but the management said it had not been operating for some time.

A two-day strike over the dismissal of a union steward ended at the Chrysler Corporation's Plymouth plant when operations were resumed by the night shift late yesterday. Between 200 and 300 workers had been affected.

A dispute between Committee for Industrial Organization members and the Fox Machine Co. was settled over seniority, led to the plant's closing late yesterday. About 75 persons were affected by the walkout of union employees.

Operations Resumed at Flint.

A U. A. W. demonstration outside the Fisher Body Plant No. 1 of General Motors Corporation at Flint failed to materialize yesterday afternoon after operations, halted because of a dues-collecting picket line, had been resumed. Employees of the Buick division, dependent on the body plant, were called back to work today.

Picketing to check on non-paying U. A. W. members occurred without incident at the Verner Highway plant of the Briggs Manufacturing Co. Pickets stopped and questioned about 15 workers entering the plant.

Heinrich A. Pickert, Detroit Police Commissioner who had announced dues-collecting picket lines would be dispersed, said his department "takes no interest in the methods used by a union to collect dues so long as they are peaceable."

"The police department will not allow mobs to form outside plants to prevent man from going into factories to work," he said. Five policemen watched the union members at the Briggs plant.

COURT THREATENS TO TAKE CHILDREN WHIPPED BY FATHER

Judge Tells Farmer Recurrence of Such Punishment Will Mean Loss of Custody.

WOODSTOCK, Ill., April 22.—Paul Munro, Hartland Township farmer, was threatened with the legal loss of his two children yesterday after he told County Judge Harry L. Cowlin he had a right to whip them with a strap to enforce obedience.

Munro, and his wife, Marjorie, appeared in court on complaint of State's Attorney William M. Carroll, who charged they beat and whipped their children, Pauline, 3 years old, and Berda, 2.

Mrs. M. D. Brooks, probation officer, testified that she examined the children and found deep welts and broken skin on their backs.

"It is too bad there isn't a law which would permit me to impose on you the same punishment you have given your babies," Judge Cowlin said. He told Munro and his wife that another whipping of the children would result in loss of their custody.

NEW YORK-ST. LOUIS NON-STOP

Non-stop airplane services between New York and St. Louis will be inaugurated Sunday when Transcontinental & Western Air begins a new cross-country schedule with its Sky Chief.

The plane will leave New York at 5:30 p.m. Eastern standard time and arrive at Lambert-St. Louis Field at 10:30 p.m. Central standard time, a flying time of five hours and 35 minutes. The plane will continue from here to the West coast, arriving at Los Angeles at 7:30 a.m. on Monday.

RECEIPTS OF $250,000 LIKELY FOR ARMSTRONG-ROSS BOUT

JACOBS SAYS RESERVATIONS TOTAL $30,000

Promoter Has No Hope of Approaching Leonard-Tender Record Figure of $400,000.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 22.—Mike Jacobs, czar of boxing, expects the Barney Ross-Henry Armstrong match on May 26 to "do" $250,000 business, one of the biggest purses two little fellows have ever drawn.

According to Jacobs' office, $30,000 in reservations have been received. Under the scale of prices which Jacobs has fixed, $16.50 for a ringside seat to $2.20 for a spot in the great out-of-doors, the match could draw $400,000 through the gates of Madison Square Garden's bowl.

The outdoor record is held by the Benny Leonard-Lou Tendler bout, which netted $400,000. Mike is casting his eyes at the figure.

For his last tune-up for the bout in Des Moines against Bobby Verner Monday night, he arrives in New York Thursday and will train at Ferndale, N. Y., in the Catskills.

Armstrong is more in need of tuning down than anything else. He was a tired fighter when he knocked out Lew Feldman in his last New York appearance and at present is taking things easy at Hot Springs, Ark., where he hopes to put on some weight. He said he would give away eight pounds to Ross, but both he and his brother Harry, who trains him, will be satisfied with 10.

Illinois Wesleyan Meets Bears on Track Tomorrow

The Washington University track team will meet the Illinois Wesleyan College team at Francis Field tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. The Bears lost their only meet this season, with Missouri last Friday.

Coach Huddy Hellmich will use the full strength of the Bear squad. He will send five men after the victory in the 100-yard dash, one of the two track events won by Washington in the Missouri meet. Butler Bushyhead, who gained that first place, leads the entry list. Others are Chester Schaum, Fred Ley, Bud Harvey and John O'Neill.

The hurdles remain the big question for the Hilltoppers, with Bud Harvey failing to live up to expectations. The former Clayton high school star was counted on to pace the Bears this year, but his performance in the Tiger meet indicated he has yet to fully recovered from a year's forced layoff, caused by a broken ankle.

The Wesleyan squad is led by Wuthrich, who will compete in the three dashes, and Manning, who will attempt to run the 880, the mile, and the two mile runs.

MUNICIPAL BASEBALL ASSOCIATION MAKES THREE RULE CHANGES

The Municipal Baseball Association decided upon three changes in the rules of its constitution at the annual pre-season meeting of the league representatives last night at the Claridge Hotel.

The first change was that players will not be allowed to participate in any game where admission is charged. The second that the transfer of players from lower to higher standing teams will not be permitted after the fourth game. The third that no roster changes will be permitted after the first Wednesday in July.

Players in the University City or any other municipal league will not be permitted to play in the St. Louis Association until they have been released by their former clubs.

Ollie Klockenbrink was elected president of the baseball association; Joseph Sestric, vice-president; Don Drees, secretary-treasurer and Charles Dailey, sergeant-at-arms.

The season, the twenty-sixth annual season, will open April 29.

The leagues and diamonds allotted:

City League, six teams, O'Fallon Park, grounds 1, 2 and 4; Community, six, Forest Park, grounds 6, 7 and 8; Diamond Youth, Forest Park, grounds 1 and 2; Comet (formerly Forest Park), six, Forest Park, new diamonds on Aviation Avenue, four; South Mountain Park, grounds 1 and 2; Mountain, four, Forest Park, grounds 3 and 4; North Side, four, Forest Park, grounds 1 and 2; Red Bird, six, Forest Park, grounds 5 and 6; Chippewa and Hampton, South Side, four; Cardinals, grounds 1 and 2; South Side, South City, four, Forest Park, grounds 7 and 8; Triangle, Minnewood, Forest Park, grounds 9, 10, 11 and 12; Industrial No. 2, four, Fairground Park, 9, 10, 11 and 12; or Chardeet No. 1, Colored Industrial, four; University Park, Junior No. 1, Forest Park, grounds 13 and 14; Forest Park, grounds 15 and 16; Forest Park, No. 2, Forest Park, 9 and 10; and Aviation Field; Frank French Junior, Forest Park, grounds No. 2, 3 and 4.

Leigh Named Captain.

By the Associated Press.
ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 22.—The election of Midshipman C. F. Leigh of Kansas City, Mo., lightweight wrestler, as captain of the navy 1938 wrestling team was announced at the Naval Academy. Midshipman W. L. Savidge of Tacoma, Wash., was elected manager.

CURRAY'S COLUMN

The "Brutal" Marathon.

THE Boston Marathon's forty-second renewal was won by a 34-year-old athlete. In seventh place was the 49-year-old Clarence E. Mar. In the field was 55-year-old Bill Kennedy, who ran in distance races in this city 50 years ago. The oldest man to finish was 80!

WILL IT COME TO THIS?

But early in this century, when the marathon was just beginning to attract attention, the race was declared to be a "brutal" test of physical stamina. Contests were accompanied by trainers on bicycles, while ambulances and doctors patrolled the route to salvage the boys who were expected to collapse.

An agitation to have the race prohibited was actually considered. But, fortunately, it never gained enough momentum to interfere with the event, now considered one of the most innocuous of all running contests.

IN FACT, THE MARATHON actually seems conducive to health and longevity, and in this statement we are borne out by Joe Forshaw, who was for years the outstanding marathon runner of the many good ones produced in St. Louis.

Forshaw competed in many important American marathons of this country, and was third in the Olympic event held at London in 1908 on the historic occasion when Dorando Pietri collapsed a few yards from the finish and the race went to Johnny Hayes of America. Forshaw and Joe Erleben of St. Louis also ran in the Olympic race at Stockholm in 1912.

Forshaw competed in many important American marathons of this country, and was third in the Olympic event held at London in 1908 on the historic occasion when Dorando Pietri collapsed a few yards from the finish and the race went to Johnny Hayes of America. Forshaw and Joe Erleben of St. Louis also ran in the Olympic race at Stockholm in 1912.

As Forshaw Sees It.

THE OLD IDEA was that even if the marathon didn't get you during the race, athletic heart eventually would. Forshaw, looking back on marathon history, disagrees.

"The old fiction of the 'athletic heart' has been exploded," said Forshaw yesterday. "We used to hear, some 30 or 35 years ago, of the killing effects of marathon runs—so much so that at one time it was thought they might abolish the event from the Olympic Games."

"But take a look at the Boston marathon of Tuesday. The winner of the race was 34 years old and was the same man who set the race record five years ago."

"Also in the race was the great DeMar, age 49. If I remember correctly, his time in seventh place was 2:45 and some odd seconds."

"That's 13 minutes faster than Johnny Hayes' winning time in London in 1908. Hayes at that time was in his very early twenties. DeMar yesterday was seventh in field of 204, nearly all younger men than he."

The Boston course is a harder one than the London course, in fact the Boston course is one of the toughest in the world. The Newton and Waltham Hills really kill them off.

DeMar's time yesterday was 45 supposed to bring on enlargement of the heart or to result in cardiac muscular strain to a dangerous degree. Other forms of physical exhaustion added to the deterioration which the four-mile race was supposed to bring on.

Some of the big eight-coded shell events were cut to three miles, under pressure. But gradually prejudice passed away and the original distances were restored, in some instances.

The fact is rowing critics found it difficult to explain their position as to rowing in the face of the fact that men like Ten Eyck, Plaisted, Wray and others were able at ages of 70 and more to carry on their coaching jobs and occasionally participate in races.

It would seem that the real terrors of the athletic world, in so far as possible damage to the heart is concerned, are the shorter

KAREL KOZELUH WINS PRO EVENT

By the Associated Press.

PINEHURST, N. C., April 22.—Harry Thomas, the Eagle Bend (Minn.) shock absorber who lasted nearly five rounds with Joe Louis, lasted just that long against Lee Wykoff in a mixed boxing-wrestling match here last night.

The match was scheduled for 15 three-minute rounds. To prevent a repetition of the King Levinsky-Ray Steele Tiaco, when the Kingfish was thrown in 40 seconds, the rules prevented Wykoff from going to the mat and grabbing legs.

Consequently the Nevada (Mo.) husky was forced to advance in a shell, trying to ward off the jabbing and hooking gloves of his opponent.

The first four rounds were practically all Thomas. Late in the fourth Wykoff, bobbing up from the canvas, grabbed Thomas' legs, and in a jiffy had him spread-eagled. The bell rang before he could gain the fall, but it gave him an idea, and in the fifth round he started easier and the bout ended with Thomas rolled out.

GREENBERG'S HOMER GOES 500 FEET ATOP WHITE SOX STANDS

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 22.—Hank Greenberg held a place among baseball's modern men of today so far as Comiskey Park fans and records were concerned.

The Detroit first baseman's terrific home run on top of the field stands in the sixth inning of yesterday's White Sox game, which covered a distance approximating 500 feet, duplicated feats of Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Jimmy Foxx.

All were achieved since greater Comiskey Park was dedicated in 1927. Foxx remains the only one who has cleared the left field one.

But Tonneman does not worry about the boos and anyway, he will soon be far away from the roar of the crowd, up in the Wisconsin woods at his summer camp where it is cool and the muskrat plays at the water's edge.

GOTCH CARRIED FROM RING.

Gotch was able to fasten toe-holds on Marshall quite often, and he did not appear to be doing so badly through most of the match, but the crashing fall finished him, and they had to carry him from the ring.

It was novelty night at the Auditorium—the return of the wrestling style of Light-heavyweight Bob Gregory, who still has not won.

The customer, "oh'd" as he and La Belle tripped through a light fantastic. The two showed many wrestling holds and devices, some of which are more artistic than practical.

At the end Gregory hoisted La Belle on his shoulders, jounced him three times in mid air, then flipped him to the mat, pounced on him and pinned him. Time 11:33.

There has been some question whether weights of wrestlers announced before the matches are accurate. The Missouri State Athletic Commission does not require a weigh-in ordinarily, so there is no official check on the weights.

As for their accuracy, this is an instance: Marshall said he weighed 200 pounds. Announced 188. Entry fee is $3 per boxer and entries can be filed by calling Larry Joutz or Walter Kerr, Prospects 5751.

VEDDER MAY GET MOUNT ON MENOW IN KENTUCKY DERBY

Too Bad.

Due to the non-elastisity of an official scorer's conscience in refusing to stretch a palable hit into an error, Bob Feller was deprived of a no-hit game against the Browns Wednesday afternoon.

Wright's Derby Eligible Runs Mile and Sixteenth in 1:44 Over Keeneland Course.

By the Associated Press.

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 22.—Menow's hopes for victory in the Kentucky were not so bright today as the result of the defeat administered to the Hall Price Headley bolt by Warren Wright's Bull Lea and a non-Derby eligible in a mile and a sixteenth race at Keeneland yesterday.

The Headley ace, champion juvenile of 1937 and an easy winner of his three-year-old debut last week, could do no better than third as Bull Lea stepped the distance in 1:44 and clipped four-fifths of a second off the track record in his first start of the year. He finished five lengths in front of Birthday.

With his regular rider, Charley Kertinger, on the ground as the result of a suspension, Menow failed to show his customary early speed under the guidance of Charley Stevenson. He was last away from the barrier in the field of four and never could get closer than third as Birthday chased Bull Lea all the way.

Headley is said to be seeking the services of Robert Lee Vedder, leading jockey of the year. The Kentucky sportsman wants Vedder to ride Menow. In the event the suspension of Kertinger is not lifted before May 7, Frank Garrett, Maryland trainer, recently took first call on Vedder.

Add Bull Whip from W. N. Potter's Brandywine stable and the Bomar stable's Billmar to the list of Derby-Preakness casualties.

Bull Whip is reported to be suffering from a throat infection and an operation may be necessary. Billmar was cut on the leg in a recent race at Havre de Grace and probably will be thrown out of training for some time.

As soon as Joe Medwick gets back on the job and Enos Slaughter becomes accustomed to his new surroundings, we look for a decided upswing in Gas House preferred, despite the loss of their outstanding question mark.

Mr. Wrigley is pointing for the outstanding sportsman award for 1938. Taking on the Great Dean in the face of that Grimm-Hart.

Missed by a Step.

BUT cheer up, Bob, a one-hit game.

In any league is quite a stunt;

You nearly made the Hall of Fame;

And missed it only by a bunt.

Dizzy Dean was removed in the sixth inning of his initial game as member of the Cubs on account of a "heavy" arm, an act which O'Diz says marks Charley Grimm as the greatest manager in baseball.

Back on the rubbing table, O'Diz rid his system of a flick of verbiage that indicated that the old vocal cords are again in mid-season form and that while the old flipper isn't as yet up to a nine-inning game, he is still capable of a pretty mean hammer.

The Cards have been at a disadvantage in their batting against the Pirate pitchers. As soon as that clock is installed on the scoreboard, we look for them to do some more timely hitting.

O'Diz says the Cards make plays behind him that the Cards couldn't make in 100 years. Time will tell, Diz, time will tell.

Diz says that not only is Charley Grimm the greatest manager in baseball (with which statement we will not quarrel), but that in Andy nett-Lazzeri triangle marks P. K. as one of the gamest guys in baseball.

They're Off!

SEE where Joe DiMaggio, Who staged a strike for bigger and better dollars.

At last behind the light.

Although he made a gallant stand For thirty-five, or forty grand The Colonel won the fight.

Joe will join the team in a few days and then the big parade will start with Snow White in the lead and the Elephants as usual bringing up the rear.

Joe didn't get what he asked for but 25,000 smackers is fairly good pay for a three-year-old.

Of course the season is still young but according to all indications "Flash" Gordon, Tony Lazzeri's successor, will not be a flash in the pan.

"Hitler Gets 10,000 Pairs of Socks On His Birthday."

All of them with reinforced "heels," we take it.

The envoys of Iraq and Bolivia sent him a large silver casket without any handles.

It looks as though Richard Whiting will finish his stretch just about in time to hear the finish of the "Whitney inquiry."

O'Diz says the Cubs made plays behind him that the Cards couldn't make in 100 years. Time will tell, Diz, time will tell.

Diz says that not only is Charley Grimm the greatest manager in history pushing each other around the quarter-mile oval, anything might happen.

The decathlon event, with a field of 22, was scheduled to get under way this afternoon. Dick Kearns, University of Colorado senior, is defending his title.

ST. LOUIS U. SENDS
5 TO KANSAS RELAYS

Five members of St. Louis University's track team, accompanied by Track Coach Ed Hall, left today for Lawrence, Kan., to compete in the Kansas Relays. The Billikens are entered in two relays and two track and field contests.

Denny Cochran, sophomore football and basketball player, will compete in the javelin throw and Co-captain Don Wolken in the 100-yard dash. Wolken, Charlie Malloy, half-miler; Frank Hagan, football regular, and Ray Huger are in the half-mile relay and the sprint medley.

The Billikens will engage Westminster College in a dual meet at Fulton, Mo., next Wednesday.

MONEY LENDER FINED $150

S. K. Zalewski Assessed For Illegal Practice of Law.

By the Associated Press
LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 22.—A $150 fine was assessed Stanley K. Zalewski; loan company officer, yesterday on two charges of practicing law without a license.

Magistrate Edward J. Rehm filed away 48 similar charges and postponed action on 11 with the understanding Zalewski would not practice law again. Zalewski, 49 years old, contended he was in St. Louis the day Magistrate Thomas H. Young testified Zalewski asked his court for a default judgment in a suit. The Floyd County grand jury at New Albany, Ind., indicted Zalewski, formerly of St. Louis and Kansas City, yesterday on three charges of operating a loan company without a license or charter.

Kellerher, who used the material to build a basement, has since made restitution. Kellerher, 61 years old, recently has been residing at 3045 Aldine avenue.

STUDENTS ON STRIKE
IN 3 COUNTY SCHOOLS

Pattonville and Glencoe Pupils Protes at Refusal to Rehire Teachers.

Pupils were on strike at three St. Louis County schools today in protest against the refusal of their respective school boards to hire new principals and a superintendent for next year.

At Pattonville, near the junction of St. Charles and Fee Fee roads, some of the 110 students in the high school and 75 of the 280 pupils in the grade school were picketing the buildings in protest against the decision of the school board last night not to rehire C. C. Birch, superintendent, and A. T. Powell, principal of the grade school.

At Glencoe, on Old State road, about 25 miles southwest of St. Louis, all but three of the 63 grade school pupils were on strike and 50 of them picketed the one-room stone school house in protest against a decision not to rehire Norman L. Kincheloe, teacher-principal.

The students who went on strike in the Pattonville schools refused to return to class after the 10 o'clock recess and spent the rest of the day in front of the schools, marching about and cheering. Several times during the day teachers emerged from classrooms to admonish them to be quiet.

Principal Powell said the dismissal of himself and Birch was the result of a factional fight which he declined to discuss further. Some of the pupils said it was partially the result of a thrashing administered by Powell to a child relative of one of the school board members for fighting with another boy in the fifth-grade classroom.

Dr. Leslie A. French, dentist, head of the Pattonville School Board, said to a Post-Dispatch reporter that the board decided to drop Birch and Powell because "they did not work well together."

In Glencoe, the first effect of the strike was the resignation of Lawrence Halley, president of the school board. Halley, proprietor of a general store at Glencoe and a deputy sheriff, said solution of the situation in his town—population about 300—would be "too much trouble" and that he preferred to leave the board. The other members are William McKenzie and William Woolsey.

Halley said that the board, at a meeting three weeks ago, had decided to hire two new teachers and drop Kincheloe, a favorite with the children because of his teaching methods and his encouragement of sports among his pupils. Halley added that the board had agreed unanimously not to re-hire Kincheloe, that he did not know all the reasons for the decision, but that he himself did not like his teaching methods.

BRITAIN GIVES PLANE BUILDERS $150 PROFIT FOR EACH CRAFT

England Spending More Than $50,000,000 for New Air Fields.

LONDON, April 22.—Britain is spending more than $50,000,000 ($30,000,000) in construction of new airfields, depots and training fields for the expanded Royal Air Force, the Auditor-General's report for the year ended March 31 disclosed yesterday.

The report showed that each airplane produced earned the builders a Government-guaranteed profit of $20 ($150). Six factories, five of which are operated by automobile manufacturers, cost the Government $1,413,351 ($7,092,000) in 1938. The firms undertook to build, equip and operate factories for the Air Ministry for immediate production of airplanes and engines and as a potential source of emergency supply as part of the rearmament program.

Police are seeking a man who rented a room last week at James Duray of Chicago, persuaded his landlord, George H. Quintal Jr., 47 Calumet and 10th to introduce him to the Industrial Bank & Trust Co. and there cashed an $85 check on a Chicago bank. The check was returned yesterday with a notation that the bank had been closed June 29, 1932. In cashing the check the man left $5 in the bank to open an account. Quintal said he had paid a week's rent in advance.

S. K. Zalewski Assessed For Illegal

Practice of Law.

By the Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 22.—A $150 fine was assessed Stanley K. Zalewski; loan company officer, yesterday on two charges of practicing law without a license.

Magistrate Edward J. Rehm filed away 48 similar charges and postponed action on 11 with the understanding Zalewski would not practice law again. Zalewski, 49 years

SWANSON AGAINST LIMITING FIELD OF NAVY OPERATIONS

Secretary Gives Senator
Bone View in Opposition to Proposed Amendment to Bill.

IT 'WOULD BUILD UP MISCONCEPTION'

Execution of National Policy in Times of Emergency Is Primary Responsibility of Navy.'

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Secretary of the Navy Swanson informed Senator Bone (Dem.), Washington, in a letter made public today that the Navy was opposed to creation of a naval frontier" on the ground that it would "hamper the free use of the fleet" in time of war.

Bone, who has proposed that the Navy's field of operations be confined to a defensive sea area" including the region bounded by the Aleutian Islands, Midway Island, Hawaii, the Canal Zone, Virgin Islands and Maine, had asked for Swanson's views.

In reply, Swanson said that in time of peace the proposal would tend to "build up a misconception of the proper significance of strategy and tactics within the naval organization."

"The execution of national policy, especially in times of military emergency, is a matter of primary responsibility to the naval establishment in its own field of national defense," Swanson declared.

But, in a rejoinder, contended Swanson, had "overlooked" certain language in the Bone amendment.

He called attention to a clause which would permit the Navy to operate outside the frontier for the purpose of repelling attacks on the Western Hemisphere in time of war.

"It has seemed to me," Bone wrote, "that not only would the adoption of this amendment not tie the hands of the Navy in the slightest degree, but further than that it would give a declaration of policy by Congress which would have a very salutary effect throughout the world in letting the whole world know definitely what our policy is with respect to the use of our navy."

Chairman Walsh of the Naval Committee said today he would seek an agreement in the Senate Monday to curtail debate on the naval expansion bill. He probably will ask that each speaker be limited to half an hour on the bill itself, and to 15 minutes on each amendment.

Such an agreement, he said, would assure passage of the bill by the Senate next week. The measure already has passed the House.

Senator Nye (Rep.), North Dakota, a leader of the opposition, said, however, that a dozen or more Senators still want to speak against the bill, and he did not know whether they would agree to limitation of debate.

AMERICAN TAKEN OFF LINER AND QUESTIONED AT YOKOHAMA

Melvin Gibson, 27, suspected of being member of China's "flying Foreign Legion."

By the Associated Press.

YOKOHAMA, Japan, April 22.—Melvin Gibson, 27 years old, from New York was taken from the liner Empress of Asia today and questioned for three hours by Japanese police on the suspicion that he was a member of China's "flying Foreign Legion."

After the questioning he was released and returned to the ship on which he expected to sail for Vancouver tomorrow afternoon.

Gibson, who came here from Hongkong, said his business was missing. Asked by newspaper correspondents if he had been an aviator in his spare time, he replied, "Sometimes." He said his questions were treated him with courtesy and that he had "no kicks."

DUKE OF WINDSOR'S PLANS

To Stay on Riviera During King's Visit to Paris.

By the Associated Press.

ANTIBES, France, April 22.—Friends of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor said today the pair had plans to remain on the Riviera during the time King George and Queen Elizabeth of England pay their official visit to Paris, June 23 to July 1.

The former King and his duchess, who arrived here from Versailles three days ago, are expected to return to Paris within a few days. But friends said they would remain several months. The duchess came here to negotiate the lease of the Chateau de Fomery Burton, owned by the American-born

Britain Again Demands Return Of Oil Property Seized in Mexico

Second Note Rejects Contention There Was
No Denial of Justice in Expropriations—
Cites Damage to Stockholders.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO, D. F., April 22.—Great Britain sent Mexico a second note last night repeating demands for the return of British-owned oil properties expropriated by the Mexican Government.

The British note refused to admit that the incorporation in Mexico of Aguila, subsidiary of the British-controlled Royal Dutch Shell, defamed diplomatic intervention in the company's behalf. Aguila was the largest of 17 British and American oil companies whose $400,000,000 properties were taken over by President Lazaro Cardenas.

The note, signed by Britain's Ambassador to Mexico, Owen St. Clair O'Malley, also rejected Mexico's argument that there was no denial of justice in the expropriations—as Britain charged in her first communication.

The second note was presented promptly, Britain said, in view of the period which may elapse before termination of proceedings in the Mexican courts; that the Mexican Government was not awaiting the outcome of the proceedings and that great damage has already been inflicted on British shareholders in the company.

The court proceedings referred to were appeals by the expropriated companies for an injunction against enforcement of the expropriation order which they attacked as unconstitutional.

Executives of the companies were notified yesterday the hearing on their appeal has been changed from Sept. 29 to May 11. The move was not explained immediately.

Britain's note repeated a charge that the expropriations were "contrary to equity and to the rules of normal international life."

Meanwhile, United States Ambassador Joseph Daniels, who has conferred frequently with Government officials regarding United States companies involved, left by plane for Washington.

He said he probably would confer briefly with Secretary of State Hull in Washington before going on to New York, where he will attend the annual meeting Monday of the Associated Press of which he was one of the founders.

The Mexican Ambassador to Washington, Francisco Castillo Nunez, was scheduled to leave for the United States today after a three-hour conference with President Cardenas yesterday.

RUMANIA ENDS IRON GUARD,

With Resigned Patience" Dangers of Alien Propaganda.

By the Associated Press.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, April 22.—A decree abolishing the Fascist-inclined Iron Guard both as a political party and a social organization was published by the Official Gazette yesterday.

Simultaneously, a communiqué was issued, stating that Iron Guard leader Cornel Zelias Codreanu, in the organization of a plot to seize the Government, had received money from abroad.

Codreanu started serving a six-month jail sentence Tuesday. Nearly 2000 of his followers in the outlawed organization have been arrested.

PRESIDENT DISCUSSES NEUTRALITY POLICY

Says Present Law Has Been Applied as Satisfactorily as Possible.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—President Roosevelt defined one of the primary purposes of the Neutrality Act today as being to prevent this country from penalizing one warring nation and so favoring another.

Discussion of neutrality came up at the President's press conference in connection with talk of his luncheon with Senator Borah (Rep.), Idaho, yesterday, indicating that it had been one of the subjects discussed.

Roosevelt said Borah and he agreed on substantially everything they talked about, including the question of monopolies.

Replies to questions, the President said the present neutrality law had two objectives: To prevent the United States becoming involved in a foreign war and to prevent this country giving aid to one side as against the other when a foreign war takes place.

Neutrality, he continued, had been satisfactorily applied insofar as that was possible under present law.

The question he answered in making this remark referred specifically to the situations in Spain and China.

Asked whether he could embargo arms shipments to Italy and Germany under the law, Roosevelt said he could not, adding that neither could arms shipments to the French, or British, be embargoed.

He was asked to name the limitations he felt existed in the law, and he did not know whether they would agree to limitation of debate.

The President said he would leave on a short cruise down the Potowmack tomorrow afternoon.

AMERICAN NAZI IS FREED,
JEWISH LAWYER DEFENDS HIM

Youth Accused of Carrying Knife
After Clash at Bund Meeting.

NEW YORK, April 22.—Appointed a war veteran judge to defend a Nazi sympathizer, Joseph Ellison, Jewish lawyer, won freedom for his client, Otto Geisler, 17 years old, in Felony Court yesterday on charges of carrying a knife with a five-inch blade.

The charges resulted from a clash between Nazi sympathizers and American Legionnaires at a German-American Bund meeting Wednesday night. Judge Matthew Troy discharged Geisler, who appeared in court still garbed in Nazi storm trooper uniform. Geisler told the court the knife was part of the Nazi uniform and that he had obtained it in Germany. The knife bore the symbol "Blud und Ehre" ("Blood and Honor").

Magnate Troy, calling attention to the fact that Geisler was being represented by a Jewish lawyer, said: "This demonstrates the worthlessness of Americanism. I am going to rule here as every American war veteran would want me to rule, and as every American Judge should rule."

Defends Social Security Administration.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
TO find a newspaper of the Post-Dispatch's high standing echoing through its editorial columns and, in a specific instance, its daily cartoon, the popular misconception that politics is a controlling force in the State social security program, as it is now administered, is as surprising as it is regrettable.

To presuppose that, because a Democratic Governor appointed a fellow Democrat to the position of administrator, the social security program is integrated with the political machinery of the party in control is to infer that Gov. Lloyd C. Stark and Administrator George I. Haworth are servile politicians; whereas their every act in directing this great program involving the expenditure of millions of dollars of taxpayers' money has indicated that they are men of integrity and high purpose.

The Governor has, in fact, braved the wrath of potent elements in his party in laying down strict rules for a non-partisan administration of this program. The cartoon under the date line of April 19 is an anachronism; it dates back to a chaotic period for which the Governor, the present administrator and the present commission cannot justly be held responsible.

Inistent demands for a swift "purge" of inelegibles on the old-age assistance rolls does not take into account the commission's responsibility to investigate just as carefully before removal of a recipient as before acceptance of an applicant. That is a responsibility that cannot be shirked in free America.

Victims of the Depression.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
WHEN I answered the door the other morning, there was a man selling doughnuts, cookies, etc. What a pity, I thought. Here is a man who has been trained for other purposes, and now he has to waste his time and talents selling doughnuts. On the other side of the picture was myself, dressed in an apron. Imagine a man with an M. S. degree dressed in an apron, doing housework, when I have spent much time and money to be something else.

A few mornings ago a woman, shabbily dressed, her face lined with grief and sorrow, came to the door and begged for a dime so she could pay the rent. Her husband did not have work. All she needed was $7.50. As you have pointed out in your column, there was $40,000 of unspent money for relief, and still we have these poor, helpless people running around collecting dimes.

M. W. GILL.

A Physician Protests.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
THERE is no basis for the purely emotional impression that the doctor must respond to an emergency call, irrespective of the circumstances attending the situation. I understand that many physicians of this city are being continually subjected to such calls, just as I have been in recent years, and when a polite inquiry is made whether the doctor may expect a fee, one of two types of outburst may be expected: either the physician is insulted with a crude and offensive language, or he is asked whether he did not take an "oath" to treat those who needed service.

Recently, while treating a patient by means of an electrical apparatus, I received a call from the neighbor of a man whose wife took a turn for the worse. When I inquired about the extent of the emergency, and informed him that I had a patient in the chair, I was told that the caller "did not know the husband from Adam." I took pains to explain that I had been imposed on so often in emergency calls that I had made it a rule not to make any calls on strangers unless a fee was assured. I also suggested the usual information, that since the city was full of free clinics and hospitals, there was no necessity for calling a private physician. About five minutes later the husband called me up, informed me about the "oath," and made the specific assertion that he was going to report me to the Medical Society and the State Board and I don't recall how many other agencies.

It seems to me that, in view of the ever-increasing episodes of this sort, that something should be done to educate this type of person.

"And What Is So Rare?"

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
ID you imply, in a recent editorial, that Rousseau wrote the poem containing the line "And what is so rare as a day in June"? I would say that the quotation is in "The Vision of Sir Launfal," by William Cullen Bryant.

DOROTHY REPOVESH.

To Miss Repovesh's question, we plead no guilty. The quotation is from "The Vision of Sir Launfal" but the author is James Russell Lowell.—Editor's Note.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH, FRIDAY, APRIL 22, 1938.

CHANCE FOR THE PRESIDENT.
Strong support for the Senate's position in the present tax controversy has come from its Committee on Unemployment. A report from the committee says that acceptance of the levies proposed by the Senate, rather than those proposed by the House, would be "exceedingly helpful" in the relief of unemployment.

This means that the Unemployment Committee would do away completely with the undistributed profits tax. It would have the conferees of the House and Senate, now in a deadlock, resolve their differences on this issue by substituting for the tax in question the flat levy on corporation income voted by the Senate.

The conference has been deadlocked by the insistence of the President that the principle of the undistributed profits tax be retained. Practically, there is no great difference between the Senate's proposal and that of the House. The House all but did away with the tax. Only enough of it was left for face-saving purposes. It is not the revenue involved, but the "principle," that is keeping the conferees apart.

The advice of the Senate's Unemployment Committee is sound. Mr. Roosevelt would do well to be guided by it and thus free the House conferees from whatever restraint his recent letter in favor of the undistributed profits tax may have placed upon them.

In his more recent message offering his spending program, he spoke for united action by all groups of the people to end the depression. Here is the chance for action on his part in keeping with the fine mood of conciliation which marked his message.

What remains of the undistributed profits tax in the House bill is intrinsically of small importance.

It has, however, assumed importance as a symbol.

By encouraging outright repeal of the tax, Mr.

Roosevelt can help measurably to end the fears which are holding back private investment.

What did he get this vision? Partly out of his important experience in large affairs, fundamentally out of his personal philosophy, reinforced by his legal and industrial knowledge.

The man has arrived at definite conclusions. Corporation management of the future will feel a greater social responsibility than it has heretofore been conscious of. The corporate executive is a trustee for the "army of stockholders and workers who together comprise the organization" and must so administer his office. Corporations should obey the law, regardless of any immediate disadvantage.

Relief for the unemployed is a social obligation. "Feeding, clothing and housing the public is an expression of civilization." The standard of living must be protected. That is our greatest problem, he asserts, though many have not realized it. Can it be maintained? How?

His gainful labor is ended. He drops the cover on his desk tomorrow to sail away to Europe for a year of meditation in his villa at Florence. Good luck!

A LONG WAY TO GO.

We print today a letter in defense of the State social security program, as it is now administered. Our discussion of this program, particularly that part of it relating to old-age assistance, is not directed at the present administrators, who are, we believe, earnestly and conscientiously attempting to clear up the mess left by their predecessors. We have repeatedly praised Gov. Stark, who appointed the present administrators, for his vigorous attempts to correct the abuses in old-age assistance which became prevalent before he took office.

Nevertheless, until the "cheaters" and "chiselers," to use the Governor's words, are purged from the old-age assistance rolls—and they are still on the rolls in great numbers—it is essential to keep the situation before the public eye.

Though there has been marked improvement in the quality of social security administration since Gov. Stark took office, it still has a long way to go before old-age assistance becomes what it is intended to be—a humanitarian measure for the serving aged, instead of a political racket.

THE FROST IS ON THE PLUM TREE.

Another chapter has been added to Jefferson City's famous plum-tree serial by the Missouri Supreme Court.

This plum-tree serial is the story of the impounded insurance funds and the enormous fees and compensations allowed custodians and lawyers appointed by Judge Nike Sevier of the Cole County Circuit Court.

Ordinarily, after we went off the gold standard, when new gold was mined in this country, or when somebody abroad sent it here, the metal was delivered and sold to a Federal Reserve Bank. But the Federal Reserve Bank could not keep the gold. It had to turn it over to the United States Treasury. In return, the United States Treasury gave the bank an equivalent sum in gold notes, which, theoretically, are just the same tend to confuse.

There are two funds. One accrued from the action of the fire insurance companies in refusing to abide by a reduction in rates of 10 per cent ordered by the State in 1932. It is known as the restoration fund. It amounts to some $2,750,000.

Judge Sevier designated two Jefferson City citizens, Louis Hard Cook and H. P. Lauf, as custodians of the money, and Gilbert Lamb of Salisbury as their attorney. Cook and Lauf have each received $60,000 as custodians and Lamb $35,000 as their lawyer.

Now the Supreme Court has ruled that Judge Sevier had no authority to appoint Cook and Lauf as custodians, no authority to appoint Lamb as their counsel and no authority to allow them compensation.

There is another impounded fund deriving from the action of the fire insurance companies in arbitrarily increasing the rates 16 2/3 per cent in 1930.

The Cole County Circuit Court assumed jurisdiction of this money, $1,651,000. In this instance, Judge Sevier appointed Guy M. Sone custodian at a salary of $500 a month, and T. Speed Mosby as counsel at $1,000 a month. The Supreme Court holds that Judge Sevier had no authority to take charge of this fund,

"in the face of a positive, unambiguous State statute which designates the Superintendent of Insurance as custodian of the fund."

Meantime, this second fund, by direction of the Supreme Court, had been transferred from Judge Sevier's court to the Superintendent of Insurance.

But Judge Sevier has been trying to retain jurisdiction of its distribution and the Supreme Court has issued a writ of prohibition restraining him from exercising such jurisdiction.

Some unfinished business still remains. Two appeals are pending in the Supreme Court, the first from fees amounting to $412,000, allowed by Judge Sevier to three Kansas City attorneys, John T. Barker, Floyd E. Jacobs and Glenn C. Weatherby, who were employed by the State; the second from compensation allowed Sone and Mosby, in the sum of approximately $70,000.

But the plot moves forward and the once gorgeous plum tree is wilting under clear, cold law.

POLITICAL PUZZLE.

Robert F. Wagner has been a member of the United States Senate from New York since March 1, 1927. In the 11 years of his tenure, he has become one of the outstanding members of the upper chamber, having risen to the chairmanship of its important Committee on Banking and Currency and given his name to a number of notable pieces of legislation.

Herbert H. Lehman has been Governor of New York since January, 1933. In the five years of his stewardship, he has taken his place among the great Governors of New York. Many notable political and social reforms have been achieved at Albany, largely through his leadership. All the while, basic human rights have had in him a vigorous defender.

It would seem, therefore, that Gov. Lehman's great capital is in his knowledge of New York State problems and procedure and that of Senator Wagner in his familiarity with national problems of Federal relief, labor relations and the like, and in his understanding of congressional ways and methods.

Yet what do we find? Here are the New York geologists tell us, this earth has a lot of crust.

WOMEN VOTERS HEAD HERE FOR CONVENTION

League to Open 5-Day Session
Monday—American Principles the Theme.

Miss Marguerite M. Wells of Minneapolis, president of the National League of Women Voters, arrived in St. Louis from Washington yesterday, in advance of the biennial convention of the league which will open at Hotel Jefferson Monday and continue for five days.

Miss Wells recalled that the league was founded in St. Louis in 1919 and that two previous conventions had been held here. She asserted that, with the organization committed as it is to upholding democratic government in the United States a success, the theme of the sessions would be "American principles and traditions—getting down to fundamentals in the ideas native to the country, which must be better understood in making representative government successful."

Miss Wells will address the first formal meeting of the convention Monday evening—a dinner to be attended by state presidents—on "A Portrait of the League of Women Voters at the Age of Eighteen." She has been active in the league from its inception, was president of the Minnesota league from 1922 to 1930, vice-president of the national organization the next two years and has been president since 1934. She is a graduate of Smith College and was a member of the board of trustees of the college from 1914 to 1930.

Five Open Meetings.

While most of the convention gatherings will be restricted in attendance to delegates and league members, not less than five meetings will be open to the public. Miss Constance Roach, league secretary, who has been in St. Louis for two weeks supervising plans for the convention, said today, Miss Roach, formerly of Carthage, Mo., is a daughter of the late Cornelius Roach, twice Secretary of State of Missouri.

At the open meetings addresses will be given by noted outside speakers, on subjects related to the convention theme. Tuesday, at 2:30 p.m., the first of three "Behind the Issues" symposia dealing with the form, scope and philosophy of the American Government will be held. Under the general topic, "Distribution of Powers," John M. Gaus of the University of Wisconsin will discuss the legislative and executive phases and Robert E. Cushman, professor of government at Cornell University, will speak on "The Judiciary."

The second symposium, also open to the public, will be held at 10:30 Wednesday morning, with Alvin E. Hansen of the Harvard University Graduate School of Public Administration speaking on "A More Perfect Union to Promote the Public Welfare." Herbert Emmrich or the Public Administration Clearing House will lead the discussion.

Speaker From England.

Following a banquet Wednesday evening, the third symposium will be held. Dr. Herman Fine, head of the department of public administration of the London University School of Economics and Political Science, will discuss "The Democratic and the Fascist Idea of Government"; Mrs. Eugene Meyer, part owner and special writer of the Washington Post, will speak on "Democracy and Human Values," and Harry D. Gideonse, associate professor of economics, University of Chicago, will talk on "Conducting Foreign Policy in Democracy."

The next open meeting will be held at 8:30 Thursday evening, when "The Parade of Patronage," will be presented, supervised by Mrs. George Gellhorn of the St. Louis league. It is billed as "An Enlightening Entertainment Showing the Follies and Scandals of the Spoils System. Sad Scenes and Features of Political Life in California, Connecticut, Indiana, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Oklahoma, Ohio and Other States of Despair."

Friday, at a luncheon at 1 p.m., open to the public, Charles E. Merriam, professor of political science at the University of Chicago and a member of President Roosevelt's committee which prepared the recently defeated reorganization program for Government offices, will speak on "Conflicts in Modern Democracy."

Newspaper Strike Avoided. PITTSBURGH, April 22.—An agreement reached early today between the publisher of the Pittsburgh Sun-Times and the Newspaper Workers' Union ended a strike threat at the newspaper. Terms of the agreement were not disclosed, except that a different settlement had been made in the case of each of seven workers said to have been discharged for economy reasons. All unions with which the three Pittsburgh newspapers have contracts and publishers of the three papers joined in the conference.

R. W. CHUBB ON BAR COMMITTEE

Succeeds Jesse McDonald on City Disciplinary Body.

The St. Louis Bar Committee, the Missouri Supreme Court's disciplinary body for lawyers here, will resume active consideration of complaints at once following appointment by the Court yesterday of R. Walston Chubb as a member to succeed Jesse McDonald, former chairman, who resigned early last January.

Grover C. Sibley, a member of the committee since it was formed in 1934, was elected chairman recently. The other members are George M. Hages and W. Blodgett Priest.

Chubb's term will expire Jan. 1, 1940.

GAMING DEVICE INDICTMENT

Tavern Man Accused of Setting Up Pin-Ball Pay-Off Machines.

An indictment charging setting up of a gambling device was voted by the grand jury yesterday against Anthony Slyman, 61-year-old employee of a tavern at 142 Park avenue, who resigned early last January.

A policeman reported that on April 12 he played two five-cent automatic pay-off pin-ball machines in Slyman's tavern, won two nickels on the first after seven tries and three nickels on the second after 11 tries.

Non-Strikers beaten, They Say.

LONG BEACH, Cal., April 22.—Three non-strikers at the Ford Motor Co. assembly plant reported yesterday they had been beaten. Other non-strikers riding in two cars, said they were pushed by six automobile loads of men but were able to defend themselves when a farmer gave them a shotgun, police reported. Dr. Towne Nylander, regional director of the National Labor Relations Board, said the striking United Automobile Workers were ready to return to work if the company would re-employ all strikers and arbitrate the union demands.

Sh-h-h-h! Keep it Quiet

Can folks sitting in your car hear your motor when it is idling? Yes? No good!

Chances are the noise means wear. Wear means that you haven't been getting all the lubrication you have been paying for. What every motor needs, right from its first day of operation, is quality oil. The word is overworked, but quality is still the only single word to describe Phillips 66 Motor Oil, Phillips finest.

It is noted for its clean quality . . . for its minimum of carbon-forming residue . . . for its richer, long-lasting body with high-degree oiliness. So it keeps the innards of your motor much cleaner. This, as you know, reduces wear and noise. And the big plus is that Phillips uses nothing but costly 100% paraffin base crude.

Next time, drain and refill with Phillips 66 Motor Oil, the economy champion. It's concentrated! . . . This year's big value in car lubrication. Look for the Orange and Black 66 Shield.

Now at all Phillips 66 service stations . . . while they last . . . you can get a miniature replica, in colors, of the Phillips 66 Motor Oil can. It is 3 inches high, with a coin slot in the top. A useful toy which will teach and please the children. Put a coin in the bank every time you buy Phillips 66 Motor Oil, to represent what you save. Drivers everywhere say that "It's money in the bank" to use this scientific lubricant. But don't wait or delay. Get your coin bank before the supply is exhausted.

GUFFEY CHARGED WITH COERCING
WPA WORKERS

Philadelphia Democratic Leader Wires Roosevelt, Demanding Federal Investigation.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, April 22.—John B. Kelly, chairman of the Democratic City Committee, wired President Roosevelt today that he had "undeniable evidence" Senator Joseph F. Guffey was coercing WPA workers for political purposes. Kelly asked that the Federal Bureau of Investigation make an inquiry.

Asserting that the "coercion" is through Guffey's "publicity director" Edward N. Jones, former Pennsylvania WPA administrator, Kelly's telegram said:

"These (WPA) workers are told that if they do not support the John L. Lewis ticket they would be dismissed."

The Democratic candidates supported by Lewis, head of the CIO, include Mayor S. Davis Wilson of Philadelphia, for Senator, and Thomas Kennedy, Lieutenant-Governor and secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers, for Governor.

Democratic Primary Split.

Asserting this line-up—in a split of Pennsylvania Democratic leaders over candidates for the State's May 17 primary—are Gov. George H. Earle for the U. S. Senate, and Charles Alvin Jones of Pittsburgh for Governor. The Earle-Jones ticket is endorsed by the State Democratic committee.

Kelly, supporting the State committee slate, told President Roosevelt:

"In view of your promise that WPA should stay out of politics, I respectfully request that Senator Guffey be called to account."

In view of Senator Guffey's support of the candidates owned by John L. Lewis, I protest Senator Guffey's recognition as Federal patronage dispenser for Philadelphia and Pennsylvania.

John L. Lewis is constantly attacking you and your administration. Guffey is no longer a Roosevelt man. He is owned body and soul by John L. Lewis and should be read out of the Democratic party.

I respectfully request that no more Federal patronage be given to Senator Guffey and that you send, F. B. I., not WPA, investigators immediately to the State chairman at Harrisburg so that these facts may be ascertained and prosecutions instituted."

Investigation of State's $85,000,000 Works Program.

By the Associated Press.

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 22.—McCloskey & Co. of Philadelphia submitted the low bid today for construction of the last major project in the $85,000,000 State Authority Program—the new industrial school for boys at White Hill. The bid was $3,562,000. Matthew H. McCloskey, whose name has been drawn into a cross-fire of Pennsylvania political charges, is president of the company.

Attorney-General Charles J. Margiotti of Pennsylvania, announced last night he had started an investigation of the $85,000,000 program at the request of Mayor S. Davis Wilson of Philadelphia.

Wilson, opposing Gov. Earle for the United States senatorial nomination, asked the Attorney-General to examine loans the Governor said he received from McCloskey.

Margiotti said he received from the authority lists of projects, architects, inspectors, list of all bidders on projects on which McCloskey was low bidder or entered bids and a list of all employees of the authority to show whether any were former employees of McCloskey.

Asked if he would question Earle, Margiotti replied:

"Under the law as Attorney-General I have no jurisdiction or authority to question the Governor."

Earle said he borrowed $30,000 from McCloskey and repaid all but $6000.

McCloskey received almost $10,000 in general state authority contracts.

Denial by Guffey and Statement by Ickes.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Senator Guffey (Dem.), Pennsylvania, denied today charges of John E. Kelly that he had attempted to coerce WPA votes in Pennsylvania. "Evidently from the way Mr. Kelley is squealing he must have some splinters between his toes," Guffey remarked.

Informed that Kelly urged a Federal Bureau of Investigation inquiry into the coercion charges, the Senator retorted: "Let him have them do it."

The present WPA was set up by Ed Jones and Dave Lawrence, and Jones had resigned," Guffey said. "I never knew J. Banks Hudson until he was brought to Harrisburg. I don't know anybody in the counties personally. I haven't communicated with anybody."

Hudson is the State WPA administrator. Jones, the former administrator, is aligned with Guffey in supporting the candidacy of Thomas Kennedy for the Democratic nomination for Governor. Lawrence, the State Democratic chairman, and Kelly, Philadelphia chairman, are supporting the State committee slate in the Democratic primary.

Secretary of the Interior Ickes told reporters yesterday he knew such representation, Ickes said: "I would not have sanctioned it as good practice."

Ickes said he supposed McCloskey attended the PWA conferences in an official capacity, adding: "I don't know. I wasn't there myself."

Asked whether it was customary for states to name contractors as representatives, Ickes said he recalled only "one other instance."

"One other instance?" a reporter asked, emphasizing the word "other."

"No, it happened in only one instance," Ickes replied, smiling.

"The only instance I know of officially," he continued, "was not Pennsylvania." It was off-hand recollection; he said, that it involved a matter in Michigan in the early days of the PWA.

Ickes, who is also PWA administrator, told reporters he had heard rumors such a letter had been received but did not know of it officially because "I haven't personally looked into my files."

Asked whether he approved of Matthew H. McCloskey, Philadelphia contractor who holds more than $9,000,000 worth of contracts let by the Pennsylvania General Authority, had participated in negotiations with the Public Works Administration involving loans and grants to the State Authority.

HARVARD PRESIDENT'S ADVICE TO EDITORS

Dr. Conant Tells Convention That Papers Should Carry More Background.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Dr. James B. Conant, Harvard University president, told the American Society of Newspaper Editors today that the newspapers should put more background into their articles.

After noting how a knowledge of history helps people to make better decisions on the problems of the present, Dr. Conant said: "The indications in regard to journalism are obvious."

"But if it is desirable to stimulate people to soak themselves in the history, biography and literature of our past, there can be no more effective way of applying this stimulus than through the medium of history control."

"A contemporary event may be treated as one more startling shift in a kaleidoscopic pattern—without antecedents and without implications. The reader may be alarmed, amused, pleased, angered or moved to sympathy, but not moved to think."

"Or the same item of news may stir in certain individuals not only emotional but rational processes."

The reader, the occasional reader I must admit, will be aroused to ponder, to ask questions, to attempt to place this item in a series of events, to compare and contrast the present with the past.

"In short, a contemporary incident has served as a starting point for a bit of adult education and conscious or unconsciously the writer of the news has played a Socratic role, as a skillful teacher."

Before Dr. Conant's speech at their annual convention session, the editors had an off-the-record press conference with Secretary of State Hull. Last night they had a similar conference with President Roosevelt.

KILLING OVER $6 IN CARD GAME

Victim, Dying, Says He Refused to Betray Winnings.

Robert McKenney, 43-year-old Negro, 128 North Ninth street (rear), was shot and fatally wounded early today by Thomas Coates, also a Negro, who lives in the front residence at the same address after a card game there.

Before he died at St. Mary's Hospital, McKenney told police he had won $6 from Coates and Coates shot him because he refused to give it back. Coates, police said, contend that McKenney and another Negro had attempted to rob him, and he fired in self-defense.

Man Hurt in Fall or Jump.

Joseph Polak, unemployed shoe worker, 2207 Indiana Avenue, suffered serious head and leg injuries early today when he fell or jumped from a viaduct crossing the Missouri Pacific Railroad tracks in Compton Park between Grand boulevard and Holt Hill avenue. At City Hospital he told police he and his wife separated last week, but declined to tell whether he jumped or fell from the viaduct.

FRANKIE SAYS JOHNNY DIDN'T DONE HER WRONG

Portland (Ore.) Negro Woman Files Suit Here for $200,000 Damages.

Frankie Baker, Portland (Ore.) woman who claims to be the Frankie in the ribald folk song, "Frankie and Johnny," filed a $200,000 damage suit in Circuit Court here yesterday alleging the moving picture singer "done her wrong" in the version of the ballad which was released two years ago.

In the picture Frankie was represented as a wanton creature who shot and killed Johnny when he left for another. The Portland and Frankie charges this is a false and malicious portrayal of an incident in her life.

Back in 1899, Frankie's attorney told Post-Dispatch reporter, she had shot and killed one Albert Schlag in self-defense, and was exonerated at the Coroner's inquest. The shooting occurred in her home at 122 George street, a short distance south of Fourteenth and Market streets. George street no longer exists.

Some versions of the song have it that "Frankie" and "Albert" were lovers and that "Frankie" shot "Albert" when he "done her wrong." The song's lyrics are obscure, but students of folklore generally agree it was based on some incident which occurred in St. Louis.

They place the date earlier than 1899, however. Carl Sandburg, in his "American Songbag," says it was being sung along the Mississippi River by 1888. Thomas Beer, his "Mauve Decade," dates the song about 1860, and Emerson gives the date of its origin about 1840.

Nathan Steinberg, president of Republic Pictures Corporation, St. Louis firm which distributed the film, told a reporter the moving picture version depicted scenes of Civil War days. For that reason, he said, it could not be construed as having anything to do with the life of the Portland Frankie, who is said to be about 55 years old.

The Republic Pictures Corporation is one of the defendants, along with the producer, Republic Pictures, Inc., other moving picture distributing firms, members of the cast, including Helen Morgan, Chester Morris and the late Lilyan Tashman, and Jack Kirkland, who wrote the screen play. Kirkland, former St. Louis newspaper reporter, pieces, handsomely styled, built opens to full-size bed.

STOCK LIST STRONG: RAIL GROUP LEADS BROAD RALLY

Variety of Influences Cited for Strength and Increased Turnover of Shares—Continued Rise in U. S. Bonds Among Factors Named.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 22.—Stocks coasted into a broad rally today with many market leaders climbing 1 to 5 or more points at the best.

Rails touched off the morning ascent and virtually all other groups soon joined the parade. Dealings were none too brisk, however, until around the final hour, when large blocks began to appear at rising prices. Transfers were 1,116,200.

Profit selling frequently stemmed the advancing tide and quotations were under the peaks at the close.

Brokers ascribed the rebound to a variety of factors. Among these were: strength of bonds, including U. S. Governments; rumors in the financial sector that margin requirements would be eased; a feeling that Washington affairs, taking a turn for the better; the growing belief business may finally have hit bottom, and lessening tension over foreign complications.

Steels, coppers, rubbers, mail orders, farm implements, motors, utilities, electrical equipments and a wide assortment of specialties were conspicuously on the comeback.

Factors in Upturn.

The steel division had the benefit of estimates mill operations would improve next week. Copers were aided by a lift in the export rate for the metal in reflection of larger orders from abroad.

A sharp break in the French franc failed to affect domestic securities trends. This currency topped as rumor of doubts were revived that the much-desired loan from Great Britain would be negotiated and the new Daladier ministry consequently seriously embarrassed in its financial plans.

Major commodities, with the exception of grains, received support. Wheat at Chicago was unchanged to off 1/2¢ of a cent a bushel and corn was even to 1/2¢ higher.

Prominent on the run were Westinghouse, Santa Fe, N. Y., Central, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Pullman, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber company and preferred, Goodyear, du Pont, Allied Chemical, General Electric, Eastern Kodak, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, J. L. Case, International Harvester, American Telephone, Western Union, International Telephone, Johns-Manville, Union Carbide, Anaconda, Kemencott, Cerro de Pasco, Consolidated Edison and North American.

Well ahead at the finish were National Cash Register, Allis Chalmers, Armstrong, Cork, Newport Industries, J. C. Penney, Wheeling Steel, American Steel Foundries, Crane Co. and Monsanto Chemical.

At mid-afternoon, the French monetary unit was down .08¢ of a cent to 3.05 cents and sterling was off 1/2¢ a cent lower at $4.98. Cotton was up 10 to 30 cents a bale.

News of the Day. The list was not especially disturbed by word the President would send a message to Congress on revising the anti-trust laws before leaving for a short cruise next Friday.

Carrriers were bolstered by advances from the capital Senator Wheeler would urge emergency relief measures for the roads at this session. More than seasonal in increase in last week's freight loadings was helpful.

Federal funds lost rising vigor at the start following the expected announcement the Treasury would use its "desterilized" gold to pay off $30,000,000 of maturing bills weekly. These eventually resumed their push as bank demand for investment of idle capital once more made its appearance.

More optimism was expressed regarding passage of the tax revision bill along lines mapped out by the Senate and Wall Street analysts, on the whole, felt the "pump-priming" program would be enacted about as desired by the White House.

The latest friendly New Deal gesture toward the utilities—proposals to advance funds to needy companies for equipment purchases—was seen as a sustaining influence.

Overnight Developments. Those watching public spending for recovery clues noted the week-end survey of Dun & Bradstreet which reported a sharp drop in overall sales from the pre-Easter expansion. While the contraction ranged from 30 to 40 per cent in some districts, the average for the country as a whole was placed at 5 to 20 per cent below the previous week. Volume was 2 to 8 per cent under the 1937 comparable record.

LIVERPOOL, April 22.—After settling at a point higher wheat futures turned easily following lower foreign prices and a small decline in Canadian premiums. Futures were off 4d to 4d 1/2.

Cotton futures were influenced by the recent advance in cotton and closed mixed. Some cottons and white rubbers remain featureless. Gilt-bronze and foreign bales held steady.

PARIS, April 22.—The Bourse closed again on the up side. Rates advanced with losses of 10 to 20 centimes and 55 francs. Industrial issues were fractionally below Thursday.

Trading was somewhat easier following lower foreign prices and a small decline in Canadian premiums.

Cotton futures were off 4d to 4d 1/2.

Investment in overseas securities and foreign bonds were favorable.

Prices were fractionally below Thursday.

15,607 MORE FREIGHT CARS LOADED IN WEEK

U. S. GOVERNMENT BONDS AT BEST SINCE EARLY '37

Total of 537,585 Cars for Period—Decrease of 208,938 From 1937 Week.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 22.—The movement of railroad freight was up sharply more than total cars loaded during the week ended April 15, the Associated Press' adjusting carloadings index showed.

Each point pointed on the big increase to be expected in view of the construction of shipments immediately after the rate increase went into effect two weeks ago.

Most of the gain occurred in the manufacturing section, including primary industrial items.

The index, based on 1920-30 as 100, was 100.38 last week, up from 97.58 the previous week, and 81.2 a year ago.

REGISTRATIONS WITH SEC SMALLEST IN THREE YEARS

total for Quarter $355,819,000 Com pared with $129,115,000

Year Ago.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The Securities Commission reported today that new security registrations declined during the first three months of 1937 to the lowest point for any quarter in the last three years.

In the first quarter of this year, 355,000 new securities were registered, respectively under the Securities Act, in contrast to 1,297,115 registered in this same period a year ago.

Securities having convertible features, including those reserved issues, amounted at slightly more than $333,822,000, fully effective in the first quarter.

This compares with $371,115,000 registered in the first quarter of 1937. It compares with $356,000 registered in the first quarter of 1936.

The commission reported that the first quarter of this year included registrations of 1,297,115 new securities by 1,000 companies which totaled 48.1 per cent of all registrations other than those for registered bonds.

Approximately $70,795,000, or 22.4 per cent of all the securities registered in the first quarter of 1937 were other than immediate offerings.

After deducting the securities registered for conversion and other purposes, there remained $276,024,000 of registered securities proposed to be offered for cash.

If these securities $261,363,000 represent net proceeds of $261,363,000, $14,661,000 were scheduled to be used in capital offerings of newly organized companies.

New York Sugar.

NEW YORK, April 22.—Raw sugar was unchanged early today at 2.85 for spots with no local refiner interest above 2.82.

With the Southern refiner bought 3,800 bags Tropicana at 2.90 and 2,800 bags of overstocked rice at 2.80 for first-half sales shipped.

Futures moved irregularly. The No. 3 spot was 2.85, up 1 cent, and the No. 2 spot with May off under scattered quotations had later positions steady on covering and the No. 4 initial upturns were followed by a slight decline.

The No. 2 initial unchanged to 2.85, unchanged to 2.85, leaving the list at mid-month.

All others refined continued to rise to the basis of 4.55 for five granulated. All other refined continued to rise to the basis of 4.55 for five granulated.

With withdrawals against old contracts were fair.

Futures No. 2, closed unchanged to 3 high.

Sales 11,160 tons.

Railroad, Utility and Industrial Liens Join in the Advance That Follows Washington Monetary Moves.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 22.—The bond market shot upward today, with U. S. Governments climbing to new 1938 highs and corporates ahead 1 to 5 or more.

Gains among Treasury notes ran as high as 18-32s of a point, and it was necessary to go back as far as early 1937 to find comparable quotations.

Rail, utility and industrial bonds all joined the advance, which traders said was due to growing belief in Wall Street that the Roosevelt spending-and-lending of billions to end the recession was "going through." Financial circles saw little likelihood of insurgents blocking administration fiscal plans.

Up to 4 among the rail issues were Nickel Plate 4½s, Chesapeake & Ohio and the first of '39, New York Central 5s and Santa Fe of '35.

Gains of 1 to 2 or more were run up by American and Foreign Power Co., International Hydro Electric Co., International Hydro & Electric Co., International Telephone & Telegraph Co. and

WELL, I'LL TELL YOU—By BOB BURNS

NEVER could see that the younger generation today is so different from that of yesterday. Some lady writer says that their outlook on life is different. I don't think it's near as different as the world they look out on. If some of our ancestors could come back to life they would find that the world has changed a lot more than the children.

Grandpa Snazzy says that the main difference in the children is on account of this new type of architecture we have today. When I asked him why, he says, "Well, shingles are scarce and you can't spank a boy with a tin roof."

Let's Go Gypsy!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

MARION and Jim have bought a trailer. No, I'm not advertising trailers. But I am promoting something that trailers can and should do for this bogged down nation.

Getting back to Marion and Jim. Grand people—both in their early fifties. Had tough going when they were first married—bringing up new babies and a business. But they've been comfortably fixed for years now, with all but one of the children settled.

Marion and Jim used to count on that time, once. Plan what skylarkin' they'd do when there wasn't a squalling baby to tend or deal to put over. "We'll have our chance then, old girl!" Jim would say. And Marion would sigh wistfully, thinking of the places she'd always wanted to see.

So finally, this last fall, Sally, their youngest, married. And, after the crowd had gone and Marion had had her cry, she and Jim sat down in the litter of rice and flowers and whooped like 16-year-olds—thinking how, at last, they were going to Cut Loose 'n' Show 'Em!

But the days passed and the days passed, and still they weren't showing 'em. First it was the guest room that needed repainting. Then it was the garage—too short for these new models. Then there was work to be done in the garden. Then—Marion nearly burst with joy—Sally wrote she was "expecting" and there were, of course, simply loads of things for "Grandma" (!!!) to do.

BY NOW it was eight months since the wedding—and Jim and Marion were as far as ever from cutting loose. Then Jim sat down and did some tall thinking. What was the sense of it all—sticking in the rut this way? They'd dreamed so long of what they'd do when they were free.

Well, now they were free, and what difference did it make? Still fussing around with things. Things—things. That's what was holding 'em down! Keeping them from enjoying life when at last they had a chance. And darned if he was going to sacrifice another day to things!

So swore Jim, swallowing half a cigar in his determination. And today—six weeks since that momentous decision—Jim and Marion are rolling merrily along somewhere near the Grand Canyon.

He was—he admits now—plenty scared that morning when he poked his head in the front door and yelled to Marion to "come on and see what we got! . . . and saw her eyes widen with amazement as she saw a wonderland-on-wheels parked by the curb. For a minute he thought she was goin' to throw a fit. Expected to hear, "Why, Jim Madison, have you gone crazy? Go off in a trailer, with spring housecleaning coming on, 'n' everything! I never heard of anything so outlandish! . . . But, soon she'd poked her head inside and seen all those cute little gadgets, why—

ARE THEY having the time of their life? You should see them! The Gypsies have nothing on them! They've parked beside speckled gold trout streams, with the dogwood swinging its white bell across a spring violet sky . . . and Jim gon' 'em again, with a pole and a bent pin. They've waded through meadow, hip high in lupines and poppies . . . and seen the Spanish moss trailing its silvery web over a Louisiana bayou . . . and slept on the desert, with the stars blazing blue and scarlet above the purple buttes. And they've found again the laughter and love that they'd almost lost, along a drab and dredging trail!

This Trailer Movement—personally, I think it's the finest thing that has happened to us since the Covered Wagon trail! What a different people we'd be if we could run away, just on week-ends . . . forget European wars and domestic chores and, just for a night or two, go Gypsy once again!

Food Value of Ice Cream

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

WE have not nearly enough records in the history of the race of the delight which men have experienced when they first sampled a brand-new invention in the culinary arts. Lamb's dissertation on roast pig is the best and nearly the only one that comes to mind.

What must have been the sensation and the lifting of the heart when Catherine de Medici introduced the jaded appetites of the French court to ice cream.

Ice cream had a complicated ancestor.

It was said that the Emperor Nero combined snow from the mountain passes with fresh fruit juices. Marco Polo discovered frozen milk ices in Asia and introduced them into Italy. Catherine de Medici brought them from Italy to France. Charles I of England brought over a French chef and ice cream became the favorite dish of the English court. It is said that New Yorkers first sampled the delicacy when a London confectioner opened a shop not far from the Battery in pre-Revolutionary days. Dolly Madison introduced it to the White House at a White House dinner.

The first manufacture of ice cream on an industrial basis was begun by Jacob Fussel in Baltimore in 1851.

OUR COMMERCIAL production of ice cream gets a big jump this month. In 1937 the United States consumed 285,227,000 gallons of ice cream. Drug stores market nearly 30 per cent of the output.

I am surprised to find that, about 56 per cent of American ice cream is flavored with vanilla and only 10 per cent chocolate. I would have thought that the chocolate was much higher. Strawberry flavor is next in frequency with 8 per cent.

Of course, like so many articles that bring pleasure and are pleasant to the palate, ice cream was at first condemned by the kill-jobs of the world. It was said to cause dyspepsia; that it chilled the stomach and stopped the process of digestion. Quite the contrary from being a harmful food, ice cream and its cousins, the ices, are very good foods. The stomach has a remarkable capacity for reducing all foods which enter it to the same temperature.

Ice cream contains calcium, phosphorus, iron and a high quality of protein, sugar and butterfat. All of these are essential for the balanced chemistry of digestion and for the proper nourishment of the body—bone, muscle and nerve.

Babies and convalescents eat it because doctors and diet experts recommend it. Millions of others eat it because it gives them quick nourishment and because they like it.

JACK WHITE, the Club 18 clown, is telling this one on F. D. R. Seems he went to heaven, where St. Pete met him at the gates. "I'm President Roosevelt," he said.

"So soddy," said Pete, "but you wouldn't be happy up here with all these Republicans—try down-stairs."

So Mr. Roosevelt took the elevator downstairs, where Satan greeted him in person. "So you're Roosevelt, eh?" Satan said. "Not the fellow who started the W.P.A.?"

"That's me!" beamed F. D. R.

"Humph," snorted Satan. "We've got several of them workers here."

"They let the fire go out every night!"

At Quentin Reynolds' boffy poddy at the same joint the other night a heckler kept annoying everyone by introducing himself.

"Don't tell us your name," stifted White, "let us despise you incognito!"

The current "Ken" column titled "Ken Parties" (by Lawrence Martin), is chockful of "Monday items" in single column measure. Under "Threat" is this eyebrow-raiser: "Winchell once said he'd quit work in 1939, when he's 45. Some people are keeping tabs."

Well, some people will be terribly disappointed because in 1939 we'll be 42, but we expect to be fired long before then.

In the foyer of the Algonquin Hotel (mine host being Frank Case) stood Margaret Case Harris, the hotel man's lovely and talented daughter, and Carroll

"I've never seen anything to beat these damned cases!" barked Marc. "Here's Margaret writing for nearly every magazine you read. Carroll is collecting coins from Judge, and the old man himself is battling out a book for Stokes. It's certainly what I'd call biting the hand you feed!"

Questions on Social Usage At Weddings

By Emily Post

DEAR MRS. POST: Is THE bride supposed to give her prayer book, which she is to carry instead of a large bouquet, to her maid of honor to hold during the marriage service?

ANSWER: No; she gives it to the clergyman to read the marriage service. But first she marks the place in the prayer book before the wedding with a ribbon marker. Usually this marker is tied to the book so that it cannot be lost, and has flowers attached to its ends. Since she knows exactly where the service begins, she opens the book and then hands it to him.

DEAR MRS. POST: Our church has no carpet and I am wondering if we should lay a white runner down the middle aisle for my wedding. I am having only a very short train. If this runner is laid, when should it be put down—after the guests are all seated?

ANSWER: No, a runner is never put down a church aisle. The floor is swept and wiped clean just before the wedding. Then, since most of the guests arrive in their cars, it is hoped that their shoes will not drag in too much dust on the floor. But if they do, the bride's train must sweep over it just the same.

DEAR MRS. POST: My daughter is having a simple house wedding, al-

IF YOU ASK My OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

My dear Mrs. Carr:

Will you please tell me whom my husband serves first when we have as a guest a man friend? If a maid serves, whom does she serve first, with the same three at table.

X. Y. Z.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest, of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

This, I think, would be an exception to the rule that the hostess should never be served first; for it is also bad taste to serve a gentleman first, even though he is the guest of honor.

O-O

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM COMING to you for information. I would like to get on a softball team in St. Louis. What are the requirements of height and age? I am not particular whether they pay or not. I will be waiting for your answer in the column as I read it every night. Thanking you in advance,

JANE W.

You can make these inquiries of Miss Mary Fernandez, 6901 Pennsylvania avenue, or Edward Allen, 4559 Pope avenue, who are organizers of softball clubs. To be eligible to the latter club a girl must be over 16 years of age.

O-O

Dear Martha Carr:

YOUR COURTEOUS letter, inclosing the first offer of Mrs. T. of land and farm equipment for a modest sum, was received. The experience she has had with the destructiveness of the people she allowed to live there free for a year is not at all unique. Some familiarity with Arkansas farms and correspondence with the Federal Reserve Land Bank people in St. Louis and information received from our county agents lead me to believe that making a living on Arkansas farms is much more of a job than people anticipate.

These matters are somewhat foreign to your usual line of inquiries, but if you should feel the desirability of getting some more concrete information, a recent circular, No. 479, issued by the Illinois College of Agriculture at Urbana, Ill., "Shall We Move to the Country?" contains some very valuable information as to what it takes to make a success of a small farm.

The letter interested me because it was so uncommon. Then when you printed her letter announcing the deluge of replies the matter became of enough importance to take it up with my classes. (It is by no means the first material I have used in my classes taken directly from your column. Family matters are often of use in my sociology classes.) The catholicity of questions and the shrewd and sensible answers you print are a constant joy. Very truly yours,

A. W. JAMISON.

O-O

Dear Martha Carr:

WE ARE A young married couple who are trying very hard to live up to our budget. This limits very much the amount we can spend for fun, so we can find very little to do on an evening. Perhaps you know of enough importance to take it up with my classes. (It is by no means the first material I have used in my classes taken directly from your column. Family matters are often of use in my sociology classes.) The catholicity of questions and the shrewd and sensible answers you print are a constant joy. Very truly yours,

TWO ALONE.

O-O

There are several places in your part of town, which might offer the diversion you need, among them being Soulard Community Center, Eighth and Soulard, and the Physical Culture Club, which meets at Scruggs School, 4611 South Grand (telephone LA 2982).

O-O

Dear Mrs. Carr:

WHAT IS the matter with our educated young people of today? I well remember how we advocated education, some 35 years ago, for all the ills of the people. This was supposed to correct errors in good manners and courtesy—yes, people could be educated up to anything. But today, we elders are thoroughly disgusted with our high school and college graduates. They do not even know how to live and let live. The age seems to be between 20 and 30.

In the matter alone of table manners: When coffee is stirred, they make such a jingle that anyone would think the cows were coming home, with several bell cows in the herd. They go to meals without washing hands. One cleans up her plate of dessert so completely and with such a racket that nothing short of stuffing fingers in the ears will help.

These boys and girls walk into a room and monopolize all the easy chairs. One young school teacher, after a mistaken marriage, came home to a stepmother (inconveniencing everyone in the house as there was little room), about midnight turned on all lights, slept till 10 the next day and when she got a position paid no board. And a young college graduate refused to pay but $5.00 a week for room, board and garage, while his father doesn't know how to make ends meet. There are other instances of lack of consideration and ignorance, too numerous to mention.

Handing children an education and advantages on a silver platter seems to be a mistake, because they do not learn to play the game of life on the square.

O-O

Dear Mrs. Carr:

THIS IS QUITE a belated letter of thanks, but I wanted to be sure everything was right before writing you. I want to express our appreciation to you for the interest you took in helping to place my little grandson in this country. A gentleman and his mother are there alone and they are happy to have the child with them. Thanking you again,

MRS. L. E.

The Legislature was in session small delegations of earnest souls would go before the solons with petitions, vainly, until it got to be a joke. A favorite joke of the legislators was to refer their bill to the Lunacy Commission or the Committee on Swamps. Other states were accepting suffrage, but by 1910, in view of how the militiamen were cutting up in England, to utter favorably the word "suffragette" or the new slogan, "Votes for Women," was like throwing a bomb in conservative St. Louis. There was an organization headed by Mrs. Florence Wyman Richardson, including her daughter, Mrs. Roland Usher, Miss Marie Garesche, Miss Julian Heltzell, Miss Jessie A. M. Jones, Miss Bertha Rommeyer, and later by Mrs. Washington E. Fischel and her daughter, Mrs. George Gellhorn, who became an outstanding leader of all time. But this early group met like conspirators.

HOWEVER, the movement was spreading over the country. Later a song, "Old Back Black Mo," referring to Missouri as a black state on the suffrage map, became a campaign song. There were spectacular parades, especially one in Washington at the time of the first Wilson inauguration, led by Inez Milholland, the "Suffrage Beauty," on a white horse. Hoodlums on the sidelines had great fun rough handling the marchers. By the time of the second Wilson nomination in

ST. LOUIS and WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Convention Next Week Recalls Formation Here of League of Women Voters in 1919—St. Louis Scene of Many Dramatic Incidents in Suffrage Movement.

By Marguerite Martyn

POSSIBLY the League of Women Voters returning to St. Louis next week for the third national convention it has held here, does so with the hope that something dramatic, something regenerative and crucial may happen to the organization here as has happened in the past. St. Louis so often has been the scene of critical or dramatic moments in the history of the league or the woman's suffrage movement out of which it grew. The very first organization in the world having as its sole object the political enfranchisement of women was formed in St. Louis. Most of the early women's rights societies, even that one formed by Susan B. Anthony at Seneca Falls, had included other reforms.

In May, 1867, a group met in the directors' room of the Mercantile Library, with Mrs. Alfred Clapp presiding and Mrs. George D. Hall as secretary. In October, the same year, the organization brought to St. Louis the foremost leaders in the movement, Susan B. Anthony, Julia Ward Howe, already famous as author of "Battle Hymn of the Republic," and Mary E. Livermore, known for her work in the sanitary division (former nurse of the Red Cross) in the Civil War, for the first woman suffrage convention.

Another convention with Lucy Stone, famous pioneer presiding, was held here in 1872. Just after the Civil War some of the leading abolitionists were turning their attention to political freedom for women. William Lloyd Garrison and Wendell Phillips wrote addresses to that convention.

The attraction of St. Louis as a meeting place seems to have been an active little group of which Mrs. Beverly Allen, her three daughters, Mrs. George Hall, Mrs. Isaac Sturgeon and Mrs. John C. Orrick (mother of Mrs. William C. Fordyce, who represented the third generation of her family to become prominently identified with suffrage). Miss Phoebe Cousins, champion of many causes, Mrs. Elizabeth Avery Merriweather and her daughter, Mrs. Virginia L. Minor, Mrs. Rebecca N. Hazard, Wayman Crow, Judge Chester Krum, James E. Yeaman, Dr. D. M. Elliot, Unitarian pastor, Dr. Nichols, Presbyterian pastor, all cultured, distinguished citizens, were the nucleus.

In 1871 the attention of the country was focused on St. Louis when Mrs. Minor, in November, tested the first woman to test the Federal Constitution by attempting to vote under the Fourteenth Amendment. Her husband, Francis Minor, a lawyer, believed the amendment which reads, "No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States," entitled women to vote. Her vote was challenged. Suit was brought with adverse decision in the lower courts. Taken to the Supreme Court the decision was delivered in 1875 that women could not have equal suffrage without a new amendment to the Constitution. So the long campaign for the Nineteenth Amendment, not attained until 1919, really was instigated in St. Louis.

It is said that J. A. Campbell, Governor of Wyoming, who signed the bill which gave Wyoming the distinction of the first state to allow women to vote, got his inspiration from having spent some time in St. Louis under the influence of the suffrage enthusiasts here.

There was a long period then when the suffrage cause languished in Missouri. Every odd year when joined in the Doxology and wept on each others' shoulders.

That was one momentous occasion. Another at this golden jubilee convention, celebrating the fiftieth year of the national association, was the formation in St. Louis of the League of Women Voters. It absorbed a few months later the old National Suffrage Association when the Federal amendment declaring the vote shall not be denied to anyone because of sex was ratified and all women could vote.

There were high spots and low spots in suffrage campaigning, nearly always dramatic, so much so that little in politics seems to have been really worth fighting for since. The League of Women Voters started out with high hopes of being a political factor to be reckoned with, even a nation, a pressure group, some may have hoped, if women could stick together politically. With much higher ideals perhaps, of freedom from partisanship, it has subsided into a less exciting body of study and propaganda groups. Another national convention was held here in 1926 with the emphasis on education for citizenship.

HOWEVER, the league still puts on grand conventions, where they play at being politicians, deciding what they'd do if they really did hold a balance of power. The conventions are staged and proceedings carried on much in the manner of major political party conventions. Delegates are apportioned to states according to the number of their state representation in Congress and seated under state banners. They function as smoothly, more so than the best steam-rolled political ones, due to a feminine attention to details in the preliminary arrangements.

Twenty-two committees of St. Louis women have been busy for weeks preparing for this convention. While the women are in session there is the illusion that they are right in there making platforms that are to result in new laws or the enforcement of existing ones, instead of merely voting on resolutions that are to comprise their next two years' program.

During the last week of March, the fiftieth annual convention of the National Suffrage Association was being held in St. Louis. Late Thursday night that week it was suddenly announced the bill would be brought out for final vote in the Senate next morning. One Senator, Gray of Caruthersville, favorable to the bill and whose vote was necessary for a majority, was absent. Consulting time tables it was found he couldn't possibly arrive in time. At this stage with the suffrage lobby in despite Edward F. Galt, Democratic National Congressman, offered to provide an engine and car to bring the Republican Senator Gray to the Capital.

Telegrams reported the progress of the "Suffrage Special." Suffrage women waited at the station to hurry him along. Lines of spectators formed from the depot to the Art Museum. At 10:10 a. m., the chaplain having prolonged his prayer and the secretary reading the minutes, the missing Senator with the deciding vote walked in. Other Senators climbed on the bandwagon. Presidential suffrage to women of Missouri was carried, 21 to 12.

That drama was as nothing to the emotion let loose at the convention when the "victory" was announced here. Venerable Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, who was an ordained minister, advanced to the edge of the platform ahead of Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president, raised her arms and intoned, "Praise God from Whom all blessings flow." Every woman in the crowded convention

South Makes Four Spades by Good Playing

Takes Full Advantage of Favorable Opening Lead by West.

By Ely Culbertson

"EAR MR. CULBERTSON: I am a member of a weekly foursome that is known around town as 'The Optimists.' It is just barely possible that this appellation was given to us because each and every member of the foursome makes a practice of bidding every hand, not up to, but over the hill. As you might imagine, this leads to many an exciting contract. When we have a laydown game we usually are in six, and we always yell 'easy' at a player who, feeling sure of a small slam, refuses to go one more notch to seven. While our bidding is apt to turn the uninitiated spectator slightly green about the gills, the standard of play is, I think, fairly high. Here is a hand that my partner brought under the wire last night:

The bidding:
South 1 spade Pass North 3 no-trumps Pass East 4 spades Pass Pass Pass

"I was North, and hereby admit that my three spade bid was a bit forward, so we'll say ho more about that!

"West opened the jack of clubs. East won and shifted to the king of diamonds. Declarer won, laid down the king of spades, and led the 10 to my ace. West snarled something peevish about our luck in dropping the queen and jack but, of course, we paid no attention. Declarer discarded a diamond on the established club king, then led a diamond. East 10 held the trick, and East suddenly awoke to the fact that he had better look for heart tricks. He was a bit late, however. Declarer won the heart king and led a spade to dummy's eight, ruffed a diamond, then established dummy's thirteenth diamond, and then led a low heart from his own hand. As you will see, the defenders now were signed, sealed and delivered. West couldn't put up the queen because he would drop East's jack and establish dummy's 10. He ducked and East's jack won, but now East couldn't exit without handing us the fatal trick. On his club return declarer ruffed and discarded dummy's 10 of hearts.

"Considering that we had started out with five apparent losers, I think we did all right to lose only three tricks. Yours truly,
J. C. D., St. Louis."

There is no denying that declarer's play was everything it could have been. He took full advantage of the favorable opening lead and the more than favorable position of the outstanding hearts and diamonds. As to the bidding, well, my correspondent admits that his double raise was "a bit forward," so I suppose I might as well let it go at that.

SIREN AND SAINT

A Serial of Two Sisters By Rob Eden

Sylvia Plans a Series of Parties Designed to Assist Her Brother in His Desire to Win Enid's Affections.

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE

Sylvia watched her campaign like a General. Indeed she felt like a general. At times she thought she should have a map and colored pins, and little flags to hoist for a conspicuous success. There was the temptation to hurry it along, but she didn't.

She had to hold herself back many times, and remember what she was doing, and what Clark was doing. She had to sit by and see Enid so impersonal and so gracious, she had to fight Clark's impatience constantly.

But the house party over New Year's was one of her conspicuous successes. Only a few of them, Guy Davis from England, tall, quiet, not much on winter sports, rather the type to hug the blazing log fire in the lodge living room. She was thankful for that, for it gave Clark and Enid a chance to be together.

Frank and Rose Meredith, newly married from New York, Sylvia had chosen them purposely, because she knew they would want to be by themselves, and wouldn't interfere with her plans. Carey Chandler for herself who knew the situation and was a dear about helping. He was the only one she told.

Days in the snow, skiing—Clark would up a little party to go riding in his sleigh, and Sylvia and Carey would take them from the doorway, and hear the bells jingling and jingling, and then go back to the fire and talk in whispers so that Mr. Davis who hadn't gone either wouldn't hear them.

New Year's Eve—all of them standing before the fire lifting their glasses, touching them, Clark smiling down into Enid's eyes, Enid smiling up at him.

The soft melody Guy was playing at the piano when the clock chimed twelve. There were tears in Sylvia's eyes when she put down her empty glass, and a prayer in her heart.

Four days swiftly gone by—too swiftly. Sylvia had never known days to go so fast.

Clark was impatient when they were home again at Groton Heights. "We'll go back to the lodge again next week-end," he insisted.

"We will not, my man." Sylvia was as positive. "We'll stay here this week-end and the next week-end. Perhaps the third week-end in January we'll go."

"This is silly nonsense, Sylvia. It isn't. It's sensible planning."

"Then we'll have Enid for dinner tomorrow."

"Again we will not, and you're not going to call her, or go into her office. I won't have it. Clark I can't work one way and have You undo all the work I've done."

"But I have to see you—these glimpses I get of her at the office—so brief, too brief."

"Next Saturday night I'm planning a little dinner party—for Mrs. Hancock, very informal. Mrs. Ivey, Mr. and Mrs. James. Mr. Davis asked me to do something for Mrs. Hancock, didn't you?" Gloria was Paris representative of the "Woman's Day."

"I did, but I want Enid here."

"She's going to be here. She's already been called. Mr. Davis is going to pick her up, and she's going to sit between Seymour James and Carey Chandler at the table."

"ND she's going to think it was perfectly natural that she was invited, and everybody who is here will think it natural and all right."

"Saturday is a long way off!"

"Clark grumbled.

"And next week," Sylvia went on as if she hadn't heard him, "going to the exact, I'm going to have a little tea for Mrs. Hancock, here at the house. I'm asking several people from the office besides other town people. I'm asking Enid, she'll come with Mrs. Nelson. I'll arrange that."

"But that's a tea—I don't see her!"

"We'll probably all of us be bored at the party—can't remember when we've ever had a good time at any of Katherine's parties—but we might have some fun afterward—stop in some place and dance. Ivey has asked Carey for me."

"The week after?"

"The week after is the week, if I remember rightly, you're scheduled to go to New York."

"I'm not going. I'll make it later."

"Then the week after we'll have a big house party at the Lodge—for Mrs. Hancock again. She's just as good an excuse as any, and so is Guy. He'll be here for another couple of weeks."

"It was good to have Carey to talk to when she got worried or Clarke became too impatient. Carey was calm, and he was a good listener, too."

"If only Clark will let me work this out for him," she confided to him after the dinner for Mrs. Gloria Hancock. "If only he doesn't put his foot into it before I get

A left, at 22, an inheritance of almost $8000. Joe was a down-East Yankee, but he lacked the stern qualities that section of the country is popularly supposed to breed. Before his inheritance he had lived on the bounty of his aunt. Good Time Joe was the title he liked to use. He bought an automobile, dressed like a race track devotee, played stud poker, and gambled on the ponies and baseball games. He dazzled the girls and made all the other young fellows green with jealousy. He took to drinking and was seldom wholly sober though never completely drunk. Nineteen months later he didn't have the price of a ham sandwich.

Joe had made a lot of mistakes, but he had done one wise thing: he had married. It was against the wishes of the girl's father, naturally, a stern old day-laborer. And so it was a runaway match. But she was the right girl for Joe and she helped him pull through.

Two weeks after the crash, Joe went round to see all his creditors and told them he would pay every cent he owed if they would give him time. There was nothing for them to do but agree.

Joe raised some money by selling his wife's engagement ring and his own wrist watch. He rented a little house, bought apparatus for cooking frankfurters, a popcorn machine, a peanut roaster and an ice-cooler for soft drinks, all second-hand. Then in the open air beneath an elm tree in front of the little house, he made his bid for customers.

He began to prosper in a mild way from the trade of townspeople and passing motorists. His wife who had cooked for her father after her mother's death, made sandwiches and ice cream.

It wasn't long before Joe was selling more of his wife's ice cream than anything else. So he abandoned the frankfurters and peanuts, and substituted home-cooked cakes and pastries. He bought an electric ice cream freezing machine on the installment plan. Afraid of business he put up a neon light sign: "Nancy May's Home-made Ice Cream."

After a year, Joe obtained a trade registration for the name of his wife's product. Then he got a partner—a shrewd business man with capital. They incorporated and went into the wholesale business. Now they have a small chain and are running several freezing machines and a delivery system at full capacity. Joe is on his way to competence, maybe a fortune.

There are other Joes in the world who could take a leaf from this Joe's book.

It's very important, boys, whom you marry. Had Joe married the same type of person he himself started out to be—well, you can guess what the outcome would have been.

"Old Tom," a killer whale, returned to the same place year after year at the proper season, for 88 years (1842-1930). He was positively identified by a peculiar mark on the front of a fin, by the fishermen of Twofold Bay, New South Wales, Australia. This was the first discovery that whales have a homing instinct. In September, 1930, "Old Tom" returned for the 88th and last time. His carcass was discovered washed up on the beach, to which he had been returning regularly since 1842. His skeleton has been mounted by the sentimental fishermen of Twofold Bay. It can be seen now housed in a suitable building at Eden nearby.

TODAY'S PATTERN

Smart Frock

WHEN Anne Adams designs a frock—it's certain to be the last word in smartness and easy making—and this is specially true of Pattern 4793. There's a bit of the unusual about its brief little sleeves and instead of the gray-bright cash you may nip in your waistline with a narrow tie belt of the dress' own fabric; both versions are smart. Of course you've noticed the new, becoming neckline, softly gathered bodice, and bright button accents! How would you like this frock in dainty synthetic crepe or sheer for afternoons?

Pattern 4785 is available in misses' and women's sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28 and 30. Size 16 takes 3½ yards 28-inch fabric and three yards ribbon. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

HENDAYE, France, April 23.—The French army, reinforced by units from the Maginot Line, counter-attacked today in the area between Alcalá de Chivert and Hand-to-hand fighting reported in the streets of Henday. Government forces reconquered the 300 square kilometers captured by the rebels during the last week. The insurgents continued their action and with a new attack reached a point where their line became broken from the coast. Insurgents held the Government troops pushed on.

The civil governor of the Province of Valencia, scene of most intense fighting, decreed the mobilization of all men between 18 and 45 to bolster defenses.

Rebels Checked at
Gen. Milá's counteroffensive in the theater of operations from Valencia was dashed when the insurgents broke through the Ebro River and, if possible, control of the coastal town of Castellón del Maestre.

For two days the rebels tried to spread the bridge, but were able to advance southward in the direction of Alcalá de Chivert. The Government concentrated its strongest reinforcement in the center of the line at Valencia, the Alcalá de Chivert and the main highway from Madrid to Castellón.

Trucks and trains move troops from Madrid and other points in the northern Spanish territory. Gen. Milá is military in command of the Alcalá de Chivert.

An assortment of foreign fighters was reported taken by the rebels in Catalonia. Insurgents listed 49 Americans, 141 English, 12 Cubans, 12 Argentines, 10 Mexican, one Icelandic and Chinese among the prisoners. It was announced that the rebels had captured a wagon carrying 18,000 pesos silver pesos ($1,026,000). Money was being transported by the Bank of Spain to a new depository.

Rebels Mopping Up
Disputes from insurgents said General Francisco Franco's troops captured territory, including villages overrun in the advance to the sea.

The insurgents dominate the coastline about 45 miles from the mouth of the Ebro River at Alcalá de Chivert.

Two battalions were wiped out by loyalists in the Aran Valley, French frontier, April 22. The battalions, which had been sent to reinforce Pyrenees passes were wiped out today by Government machine-guns.

Government military and 30 gunners of the First Division operating from the mountain attacked insurrectionists in the Aran Valley, French frontier, and moved down in a ravine below the capital, Vic.

Government reports from Vic said 2000 insurgents
